JOHNSTOWN, (Pa.), June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] Developements every hour make it more and more apparent that the exact number of lives lost in the Johnstown horror will never be known. All estimates that have been made up to this time are conservative, and when all is known will doubtless be found to have been too small. Over one thousand bodies have been found since sunrise today, and the most skeptical concede that the remains of thousands more rest beneath the débris above the Johnstown bridge. The population of Johnstown, the surrounding towns and portion of the valley affected by the flood is, or was a few days ago, 50,000 to 55,000.

Associated Press representatives have interviewed many persons in Johnstown who survived the flood, and the consensus of opinion was that fully 30 per cent. of the residents of Johnstown and Cambria have been victims of the disasters of fire and water. If this be true the total loss of life in the entire valley cannot be less and possibly is much greater. Of the thousands who were devoured by flames, and whose ashes rest beneath the smoking débris above Johnstown bridge, no definite information can ever be obtained. As little will be learned of the hundreds that sank beneath the current, and were borne swiftly down the Conemaugh, only to be deposited hundreds of miles below on the banks and in drift-wood of the raging Ohio. Probably one-third of the dead will never be recovered, and it will take at least many weeks to enable even a close estimate to be made of the number of lives that were snuffed out in that brief hour. That this estimate can never be accurate is understood, when it is remembered that in many instances whole families and their relatives were swept away, and found a common grave beneath the wild waste of waters. The total destruction of the city leaves no data to ever demonstrate the names of many of the unfortunates who have found places on the pages of eternity's history.

Ten bodies have been taken out of the wreck near the Cambria Library so bruised and mangled that it is impossible to identify them. It is supposed they were guests at the Hurlbut House, which is completely demolished. Eight bodies were recovered near the Methodist Church.

Capt. Kuhn of Cambria county claims that the entire population which the flood struck in Johnstown and surrounding towns number 25,000, which would entail a loss of about 5000.

Mrs. J. C. Campbell of Allegheny City and Mrs. W. O. Hughes of Pittsburgh have reported at the scene of disaster for the relief of homeless children.

"All indications point to the fact that the death list will reach over 5000, and in my opinion the missing will reach 8000 in number," declared Gen. Hastings tonight.

AT THE MORGUES.

At present there are said to be 2200 recovered bodies. Great difficulty is experienced in getting a correct list. There is a great number of morgues. There is no central bureau of information, and to communicate with the different dead-houses is a work of hours. The journey from the Pennsylvania Railroad morgue to the one in the Fourth Ward schoolhouse in Johnstown occupied at least one hour. This renders it impossible to reach all of them in one day, particularly as some of the morgues are situated at points inaccessible from Johnstown.

At 6 o'clock this evening the six hundred and thirtieth body had been received at the Cambria City depository for corpses.

At Millville was the body of a girl 15 years old, making the forty-sixth corpse received there. An angry mark on the wrist looked as if a bracelet had been torn from her arms.

Seventy bodies have been received at the Pennsylvania Railroad station.

Rose, vanilla, lemon, ice, raspberry, chocolate, Bismarck, hazelnut, Carlsbad and cigarette wafers; tourists, Alberts and Bent's water crackers, as well as fifty varieties of American, fancy and plain biscuits.

Everybody Take Notice.

There will be presented this evening at the A. M. E. Church, Old Second street, in connection with the Ladies' Fair, which was formally begun last evening, an excellent musical and literary programme. The crowning feature of the occasion will be an able debate. Subject: "Is Marriage a Failure?" The affirmative will be represented by Jackson Johns and James Marseilles of Los Angeles; negative by Al Muse and Billy Miller, the oratorical luminaries of Pasadena. The event, for weeks back, has been the all-absorbing topic of conversation in society circles and is looked forward to with considerable anxiety, inasmuch as all the participants are especially noted for their wit and humor.

Still A-going.

Klein Bros., at the corner of First and Main streets, have been very successful in their closing out sale, and hundreds were made happy by buying of them. The sale will continue until the 1st of July, and until then every suit of clothes must be sold. Call on them and get some of the greatest bargains ever known.

COUNCIL.

THE ORDER FOR SEWERS AT LAST ADOPTED.

Including the Ballona Outlet to the Sea—Much Important Business Transacted—The City Attorney Considered Facetious—The Temple-street Grade Again.

When the City Council met yesterday morning at 10 o'clock all the members were present—President Frankenfield, Councilmen Bonsall, Summerland, McLain, Shafer, Wirsching, Van Dusen, Brown and Hamilton.

The City Auditor was granted a leave of absence for 10 days.

Police Judge Stanton reported total fines for May $749.25.

The Street Superintendent asked for a skeleton safe for the keeping of the records. Referred to the Board of Public Works.

The Street Superintendent presented a communication asking that all public garbage wagons be abolished, and citizens make private arrangements for the removal of garbage. Referred to the Board of Health.

The Street Superintendent presented a communication asking for the passage of an ordinance to regulate the building of sidewalks. Referred to the City Attorney to draft an ordinance.

MR. M'MANIS DECLINES.

The following communication was read from Mr. McManis:

To the Honorable City Council: Having been notified by the Clerk of your honorable body that I had been appointed a Police Commissioner for the city of Los Angeles, I must respectfully decline said appointment on account of the fact that my business is such as to require my entire time and attention. Respectfully,

JOHN R. MCMANIS.

The declination was received and filed.

Mr. Hamilton moved to defer action upon the election of a police commission for one week. Carried.

An ordinance declaring the city's intention to grade a portion of Orange street was adopted.

TEMPLE-STREET GRADE.

An ordinance changing the grade of Temple street came up, and the City Surveyor asked that it be withdrawn, as the Board of Public Works wished to make some changes in the grade.

City Attorney McFarland, as a citizen of the West End and not as an official, asked for information what the proposed change would be.

Mr. Bonsall said it was proposed to make a compromise grade that would be a fine one.

Mr. McFarland—What will it be?

Mr. Bonsall—There will be a cut of about 12 feet.

Mr. McFarland—The West End wants to be heard before that is done. We want 15 feet.

The ordinance was withdrawn for further reference to the Board of Public Works, Mr. Bonsall saying that the West End would have ample chance to be heard on the matter.

THE DOG QUESTION.

The dog question came up on a reply of the City Attorney for information as to the constitutionality of the ordinance relative to the duties of the dog catcher. The City Attorney was somewhat facetious in his reply, suggesting [illegible] matter be ref[illegible] Zoophobic Health for an [illegible] the treatment of th[illegible] estion a frivolous manner by the City Attorney, claiming that the dog catcher was fast becoming a complete nuisance by the manner in which he is making the life of the average dog a burden. The City Attorney was instructed to return a respectful answer to the question.

An ordinance creating the office of Police Matron and fixing the salary at $60 per month was read.

Mr. Hamilton objected to the ordinance, claiming that the City Attorney had not defined the duties of Police Matron in accordance with instructions.

Mr. Dunn said that the instructions, like those in the dog case, were very indefinite.

The ordinance was amended to conform to the request of the Council, and adopted. The amendment provides that the matron shall have charge at the hospital.

OPENING FIRST STREET.

An ordinance setting forth the necessity for opening First street from Fort to Olive street, defining the grade, and establishing an assessment district was read. The City Attorney said that the ordinance was a necessary step to bring the condemnation proceedings, which the Council ordered some time ago.

Mr. Bonsall said that the grade fixed in the ordinance is not one that will be the best obtainable, and that the Board of Public Works is investigating the matter. The whole matter was referred to the board.

An ordinance declaring the intention of the city to construct a sewer on Aliso street, from the east line of Alameda street to the west bank of the river, was adopted.

STREET MATTERS.

An ordinance of intention to pave Second street, between Fort and Spring streets, with bituminous rock was read and adopted.

An ordinance to grade and gravel a portion of Aliso street on the east side of the river was referred with a remonstrance to the Board of Public Works.

A motion from Mr. Brown that the Depot Railroad Company and the Agricultural Park Railroad Company be instructed to repair the street at the intersection of Main and Second streets, between their respective rails, was carried.

The agreement and bond of the Baker Iron Works for the construction of an elevator in the new City Hall was taken up. It being found that the bond was not properly signed the matter went over until the afternoon session.

The recommendations of the Board of Public Works, heretofore published, were adopted.

An ordinance providing for the grading and graveling of a portion of Macy street, which had been vetoed by the Mayor and referred back to the Board of Public Works and reported favorably by the board with some amendments, was adopted, the former action being reconsidered.

An ordinance reported favorably by the Board of Public Works, providing for the opening of Sixth street from First street to Wall street, and fixing the limits of the assessment district from Pearl street to Santa Fé avenue, was adopted.

A resolution offered by Mr. Van Dusen demanding the ordinance relative to the trimming of trees on sidewalks was adopted. The amendment changed the name of Street Superintendent in the ordinance to Chief of Police, making it the duty of the Chief, instead of the Street Superintendent, to carry out the provisions of the ordinance.

SEWERS.

The Sewer Committee presented a report, which was adopted, recommending that the City Engineer draft resolutions for the construction of the following sewers:

College street, from Buena Vista to a point 25 feet east of east line of Ramona avenue.

New Depot street, from College to within 25 feet of east line of Ramona avenue.

Montreal street, from New Depot to within 50 feet of north line of Alpine street.

Cleveland street to a point 210 feet south of south line of Alpine street.

Alpine street, between Cleveland street and Beaudry avenue.

Rosas street, from Alpine street to a point on Rosas street at the head of the sewer to run south from the summit of the hill, a distance of about 500 feet from the center line of Alpine.

Beaudry avenue, from Alpine street to a point 275 feet north of the north line of Pearl street.

Pearl street, from Alpine to a point 50 feet from the east line of Beaudry avenue.

Yale street, north of College street.

Bernard street, west of Buena Vista street.

Extension of Buena Vista street, from Bernard street to the Salona tract.

An ordinance for the construction of the following sewers was read: Outfall, at a cost of $440,000; Southern intercepting, $60,000; central intercepting, $174,000; western intercepting, $60,000; Alameda-street storm, $65,000; Flower and Ninth-street storm, $275,000; Elysian Hills storm, $3[illegible],000; Arroyo de los Pasos storm, $12,[illegible]; Hollenbeck Arroyo storm, $35,000; Kuhrts-street storm, $9000; Mozart-street storm, $16,000; Thomas-street storm, $13,000; Maple-avenue storm, $[illegible]6,000; Second-street and Lake Shore avenue storms, $27,000; Beaudry-street storm, $13,000; Seventh-street storm, $[illegible],000.

MAKE HASTE SLOWLY.

Mr. Shafer moved to suspend the rules in regard to printing, which was carried, and Mr. Summerland moved that the ordinance be put on its passage.

Mr. Bonsall objected, saying that in a matter of this import[illegible] ance the Council should make haste slowly. He said that right of way, etc., should be first secured, and as the question had been raised that there was a better route than that by way of Ba[illegible], to wit, by way of Centinela, he thought the matter should be postponed for a day or two until a definite answer could be had from the gentlemen interested in the latter proposition. He moved that the matter be [illegible]

Mr. Bonsall would be any [illegible] way, as there are [illegible] reads by which the [illegible] could be reached.

Mr. Shafer also favored immediate action, saying that the Centinela people had stated that they would not let the sewer pass through that ranch for $40,000,000.

Mr. Bonsall insisted on his motion for postponing to Thursday, which was seconded by Mr. Hamilton, who favored the Centinela route, if it was possible to get it.

There was some further debate, in which Mr. Bonsall said that if the ordinance was passed it would place the Council on record as favoring the Ballona route. This was disclaimed by Mr. Shafer, after which a vote was taken, and the motion to refer action until Thursday was adopted by a vote of 5 to 4, and the matter accordingly went over.

MR. WHALING.

M. Whaling of the Board of Education, by permission, then addressed the Council at some length, setting forth the grievances of certain property-owners, who claimed that the law had not been carried out in certain assessments for street improvements, on Hill street, between Second and Third streets.

At the conclusion of Mr. Whaling's remarks, Mr. Wirsching moved that the matter be referred to the Board of Public Works, when Mr. Bonsall objected, and the motion was then withdrawn and the matter referred to the City Attorney.

The Sewer Committee's report was then concluded, and the City Attorney and Sewer Committee instructed to secure the sewer right of way.

The Bridge Committee reported, recommending that plans and specifications of the east approaches of the Downey-avenue bridge be prepared. Adopted.

REPORTS.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported, recommending that certain offices be fitted up in the new City Hall, and the plans and specifications for desks, etc., be prepared, which was adopted, as was also the recommendation setting apart certain rooms for the use of the Board of Education.

The report of the Fire Commissioners, containing recommendations adopted at the last meeting of that body, was adopted.

A communication was received from the Park Commissioners, setting forth that their funds were exhausted and asking for more money, which was referred to the Finance Committee.

A communication was received from the Library Directors, asking for a set of municipal reports for the library, and the Clerk was instructed to furnish the same.

The special committee reported in favor of fixing the salaries of the Police Judges at $2000 per annum, which was adopted, as was the recommendation that only one clerk be employed for both courts, at a salary of $100 per month. The committee also reported in favor of the payment of the salaries of the clerks of the city justices by the county, and the same was unanimously adopted.

The report of the Zanja Committee was presented, and the various recommendations adopted.

Ordinances ordering certain work done on Fifth, Satello, Walters and Flower streets, were read, when the rules in regard to printing were suspended, and the ordinance as read passed.

Mr. Summerland moved that a medical officer be appointed to make an inspection of cesspools, dirty yards, etc., and have power to have the same cleaned up, at the city's expense, the same to be reimbursed by the owner of the property.

Mr. McLain called attention to the fact that a sewer had been constructed on Buena Vista street, but that the people would not connect with it. He would like to see an ordinance compelling property-owners to connect with sewers wherever practicable. After some debate, Mr. Summerland's motion was referred to the Board of Health.

APPEAL FOR THE FLOOD SUFFERERS.

A communication was received from the Mayor calling attention to the unprecedented calamity by the floods at Johnstown, Pa., and suggesting that a committee of citizens be appointed to solicit subscriptions for the benefit of the suffering survivors, as follows:

LOS ANGELES (Cal.), June 3, 1889.

To the Honorable Council of the City of Los Angeles—GENTLEMEN: The unprecedented calamity that has befallen the unfortunate people of Johnstown, Pa., in which the entire city has been swept out of existence, and many of the few survivors left destitute and homeless, calls for some expression of sympathy at our hands and a willingness on our part to extend such assistance as may be proper under the circumstances. And to that end I would suggest the appointment by your body of a committee of citizens to obtain subscriptions and to take such other action as your body may deem expedient. I am, respectfully,

HENRY T. HAZARD, Mayor.

Mr. Summerland stated that the Postal Telegraph Company had offered the use of its lines for the transmission of any resolutions of sympathy or money for the benefit of the sufferers.

Mr. Bonsall thought it would be best to call a meeting today, as by this means probably a greater amount of money could be secured.

This suggestion did not seem to be favorably received, and the President then announced the following gentlemen as the committee, the Councilman from each ward presenting the names in the following order: First Ward, C. N. Earl; Second, C. A. Stilson; Third, H. C. Witmer; Fourth, I. R. Dunkelberger; Fifth, G. H. Bonebrake; Sixth, J. W. Hinton; Seventh, R. A. Lewis; Eighth, Dr. D. G. MacGowan; Ninth, ex-Mayor W. H. Workman.

The President requested the gentlemen to meet in the Council chamber this morning at 9 o'clock, when the plan of campaign will be arranged.

CHINATOWN CONDEMNED.

Mr. Summerland presented a series of resolutions, declaring Chinatown a nuisance, and setting forth that it is the sense of the Council that it should be suppressed, and also requesting that a copy of the resolutions be transmitted to the Grand Jury, so that the assistance of the District Attorney could be secured.

The resolutions caused considerable debate. All of the members agreed that the spirit of the resolutions was all right, the only question being as to whether the objections complained of could be corrected in this manner.

The City Attorney stated that a whole district could not be declared a nuisance, but that individual cases could be singled out, and when the perpetrators were arrested he would prosecute all cases. He did not, however, have the time or inclination to hunt these cases up, and would not do so. The resolutions were then put to a vote and adopted, and the Clerk was instructed to send a copy of the same to the Grand Jury.

A number of proposals to do certain street work and sewers were referred to the Board of Public Works and Committee on Sewers.

ADVERTISING THE CITY MONEYS.

The Clerk stated that he had advertised for the custody and [illegible] ment of the city moneys, but [illegible] ar has received no answers.

Mr. Wirsching moved that at a dangerous well on St. Louis street be filled up, and the same was ordered done.

Mr. Shafer called up the matter of keeping the sidewalks clean, and asked for information from the City Attorney as to whether he had come to any conclusion about it. Mr. McFarland stated that he had investigated the matter, but wanted more specific information as to the wish of the Council, and promised to give it his attention.

The Clerk read an ordinance for the abatement of nuisances on the property of non-residents, which provides that the same may be abated by the Health Officer, the cost of such abatement to be a lien on the property, and to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of such property.

Health Officer MacGowan made a statement, in which he said that the ordinance is a copy of the State law, but it is necessary to adopt it by the Council to make it applicable to Los Angeles.

On motion, the rules were suspended and the ordinance passed, the City Attorney stating that he did not think it would do any harm to try it.

Mr. Wirsching moved that the City Engineer be instructed to change and establish the grade of Los Angeles street, from the Plaza to Alameda street. Carried.

The usual petitions were read and referred to the appropriate committees, with the exception of the petition of the Postal Telegraph Company to be allowed to erect a post for a sign and transparency in front of its place of business on Main street, which was granted, the same to be put up under the direction of the Street Superintendent.

A communication was received from the City Assessor, asking to be allowed to employ five additional clerks, in order to finish the assessment-rolls in time, and the necessary relief was granted.

A communication was also received from the East Side Board of Trade, asking that the stone-crushing company be requested to discontinue the use of Chinese labor. Referred to the City Engineer.

An agreement was also presented from W. H. Workman and Mrs. Hollenbeck, on condition that a storm-drain be constructed, offering land for street purposes, and, on motion, the City Engineer was instructed to define the lines, etc., preparatory to having the necessary deeds drawn.

AGAINST CHANGING THE ROUTE.

City Engineer Eaton addressed the Council at some length in opposition to the changing the route of the outfall sewer, saying there is nothing in the way of getting to the ocean by the Ballona route, and that any change would only result in unnecessary delay, without any compensating advantages—in fact, it would probably give rise to many annoying complications, besides which, the Centinela route is very much more expensive, costing at least $50,000 additional.

President Frankenfield suggested a reconsideration, when Mr. Bonsall made another plea for posterity getting some revenue out of the sewer, which was answered by Mr. Eaton.

Mr. Wirsching favored letting the matter stand, and Mr. Eaton pointed out that the city need never expect to get any revenue from the sewer water, as it would not pay the cost of distribution; in fact, the city had never been paid the expenses of distributing the water from the Los Angeles River used for irrigating purposes.

Mr. Frankenfield thought the motion should be reconsidered by which the sewer matter was made the special order for Thursday, and, on a vote being taken, a reconsideration was had by a vote of 8 to 1, Bonsall.

Mr. Shafer then moved to pass the ordinance as read, and the motion prevailed by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Bonsall hoped that the sewer matter would not get in the same fix as the First-street viaduct matter, but that all the necessary precautions would be taken in advance.

Both Mr. Frankenfield and the City Engineer said that this would be done, and the matter was dropped.

Mr. Shafer moved that the side walk ordinance, No. 305, be so changed as to make it obligatory on property-owners to keep them clean, and was proceeding to an explanation when he was corrected by the Street Superintendent, and withdrew his motion.

PERSONAL JOURNALISM.

See What It Is Leading to—Lurid Extracts.

On Saturday evening last the Evening Express published the following in its editorial columns:

"The fatuous, futile and febrile Trombone makes the absurd boast that it obtained contracts for advertising to the extent of $14,000 and 243 subscribers in two days. A 'gernal' that is conducted by a bogus jigadier-brindle, and which will employ no one who has not a record as an escaped State prison convict, is not worthy of belief. The Trombone today has not $14 worth of paying advertisements in its columns, and has less than seven quires of regular subscribers. Its ill-paid and less-deserving reporters are compelled to evict a deputy sheriff every time they sit down to their desks to copy an item from some one of the other papers. Vain boaster, robber, thug, liar, homicide, fratricide, patricide, matricide, uxoricide, regicide (and would that you were a suicide), and general all-around scoundrel and son of a sea-cook, go to! We do not say where you are to go to! But go to! and you will find out when you get there."

And on Monday morning the Herald commented in the following strain:

"In the interest of a long-suffering community, the Herald hopes that the stupid personalities which have disfigured the columns of its daily contemporaries may cease. There is as much wit in them as could be resolved from the carcass of a dead jackass, and they are as odorous as said carcasses are in any but a desiccating climate. In the case of at least two of the disputants the public is of the opinion that if they have any spunk they ought to settle their difficulties without the intervention of printer's ink, and we are inclined to think that the authorities themselves would be conveniently absent if an arena were arranged for the fateful (?) arbitrament. There is a pretty general opinion that it is a case of 'one's afraid and the other dars'nt.' Meanwhile, there is a good, strong, settled disgust at the never-intermitted dirt-slinging."

The question now is, "Whither are we drifting?" Time!

Later.

AN EDITOR OF THE HERALD DISTINGUISHES HIMSELF.

The "personal-journalism" instincts so graphically grouped in the above extracts were pertinently illustrated last night. Joseph D. Lynch, one of the editors of the Herald and the author of the extract last above quoted, went into the Western Union Telegraph office about 9 o'clock to send a message. He had it written and a frank stamp attached. E. B. Merrill, in charge of the office, politely asked Mr. Lynch, whom he did not know, if he had his frank book with him. Mr. Lynch replied that it was none of the operator's "d—d business" whether he had or not. [illegible] asked Merrill [illegible] latter replied that he did [illegible] that he was only doing his duty in asking to see the book. Mr. Lynch then said that he would pay for the message anyhow, and threw down a $10 gold piece on the counter, removing the stamp from the message. Mr. Merrill gave him the change and took the message, saying at the same time:

"Mr. Lynch, I want you to understand that I do not refuse to send the message under the frank stamp."

Mr. Lynch fired up and told Merrill that he had refused to send it, and that he was "a d—d dirty puppy."

This was more than Merrill could stand, and he returned the compliment by calling Mr. Lynch "another."

He had scarcely uttered the words when Mr. Lynch reached across the counter and slapped Merrill in the face. The latter hit back, but failed to reach his antagonist. Mr. Lynch then raised a heavy cane which he had in his hand and aimed a vicious blow at Merrill's head. The latter threw up his hands and received the full force of the blow on them, much to the damage of his knuckles, the little finger on his right hand being nearly broken.

Mr. Merrill called to one of the messenger boys to go for an officer. The boy started out of the door, when Mr. Lynch caught him by the arm and told him not to go. But the boy went, and Mr. Lynch came back into the office saying that probably both had been too hasty. Mr. Merrill made no reply, and Mr. Lynch went out of the door before the officer came.

There were several witnesses to the scrimmage, and they all agree that the above are substantially the facts. The counter is a silent witness of the weight of the cane used; there being a large dent in it where the weapon came down in the attempt to reach Merrill's head. Mr. Merrill regrets the affair very much, but insists that he was strictly in the line of his duty, and that the attack was entirely unprovoked.

A warrant for Lynch's arrest may be sworn out today.

THE FIRST DUMMY OVER THE NEW CABLE LINE

A Relief Movement for the Pennsylvania Flood Sufferers Started—Another Good Oil Well at Puente—A Jewish Fest—Criminal Doings.

Last night at 12 o'clock a trial trip was made over the cable line from the engine-house on Grand avenue to the turntable at Requena street. A dummy started from the engine-house with Mr. Robinson and a number of citizens and press representatives. Emmett Ney had the honor of being the gripman on the first car over the new line. The car went through without any trouble, going up on one track and coming back on the other. The speed was moderate, caution being used for fear of contingencies. The course of the first car was watched by a number of people along the route, and Mr. Robinson was greatly pleased over the smoothness with which everything went. It will only be a few days now before the line will be in active operation. The big engine performs its duties with admirable precision, and the arrangements throughout show how carefully and throughly the work has been done. The turns at the corner of Fort and First and Spring and First streets work well, and the noise from the cable is not as loud as expected. In fact, it is very slight when it is remembered that last night was the first running of the cable for any length of time. Except at the corners the noise is scarcely perceptible from the sidewalks of the streets through which it passes, and during the daytime it will be inaudible. The company is to be congratulated on the smoothness with which everything works from the start.

Subsequent trips were made with a car attached to the dummy, and at 2 o'clock this morning the road was still running.

FLOOD SUFFERERS.

An Organized Movement to Send Relief.

The terible calamity at Johnstown, Pa., the details of which have filled the telegraphic columns of the papers for several days, while horrors upon horrors still remain untold, has touched the heart of every humane person in the land. Los Angeles will certainly not be backward in responding to the call for help when help is so greatly needed. Already relief measures have been started, and it is certain that the people of this generous city only await the proper organization and appeal to respond with open hands.

As appears in the report of proceedings of the Council yesterday, the following are constituted a committee to solicit aid for the flood sufferers: C. N. Earl, C. A. Stilson, H. C. Witmer, I. R. Dunkelberger, G. H. Bonebrake, J. W. Hinton, R. A. Lewis, Dr. D. G. MacGowan and ex-Mayor Workman. This committee will meet at the Council chamber at 9 o'clock this morning.

Much interest is felt in the movement, and it is more than probable that quite a number of prominent citizens will meet with the committee appointed by the Council, at the City Hall this morning, for the purpose of co-operating with them in the work of securing subscriptions. The newspapers will also do everything in their power, and every effort will be made to send substantial relief to the sufferers.

Contributions are now going forward for the Johnstown sufferers by the late flood. Anything in the way of clothing, food, etc., delivered to Mrs. D. C. Grayson, No. 210½ South Spring street, Breed block, will be packed and shipped to Johnstown. Mr. Pridham, superintendent of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, has kindly consented to forward the contributions free of charge.

The First Presbyterian Church of this city, of which Rev. J. L. Russell is pastor, telegraphed $215 to the flood sufferers yesterday morning.

TOTAL DEPRAVITY.

Two Jail Birds Held for an Infamous Assault.

The depth of depravity reached by some of the hoodlums who are run in as vagrants is almost beyond belief. Three young men, scarcely more than boys, were called for examination in Justice Savage's court yesterday afternoon upon a charge of a crime against nature. Their names are John Harley, Charles Jackson and James Crawford. They are the men who assaulted an ignorant German named Charles Dresser a few days ago at the County Jail. His outcries brought the officers to the tank and he was extricated from his unpleasant predicament. He swore on the stand that the men made an infamous proposition to him as they were lying on the floor of the tank, which he resented. He said that the men grabbed him and tried to force him to the floor after he had arisen, and he fought them; that one of them attacked him with a case knife, and he broke the blade off at the handle. When he began to cry for assistance they desisted and he was taken out with his nose bleeding from a crack he got in the face. He cleared Crawford from any part in the affair, but swore positively to Harley and Jackson. They tried to shuffle out of the infamous transaction; but their subterfuges were patent to everybody. Harley claimed that Dresser was lying crosswise in the tank with his feet in the faces of the rest of the inmates, and they tried to get him to move around. The row, he says, resulted from the impoliteness of their fellow-vagrant. The Court put very little faith in the stories of the defendants, and held Harley and Jackson to answer to the charge, fixing their bail at $1000 each. It being questionable whether or not Dresser would be present at the trial if allowed to go, the Court held him under a bond of $50, until Monday. At that time, if he cannot give the bond, his conditional deposition will be taken.

A MONTE CASE.

A Man Charged with a Brutal Attempt at Rape.

An information was filed yesterday in Department No. 1 of the Superior Court against Isiano Rojas, charging him with an attempt at rape. The case comes in from El Monte, the preliminary examination having been held by Justice J. F. Norman.

The offense appears to have been a particularly aggravated one. The complaining witness against Rojas is a woman who gave her name as Mrs. Pauline Wiegand, who lives at the Santa Anita ranch, where Rojas also lived. The story which she told on the examination, and upon which the defendant was held, is quite a thrilling one.

Mrs. Wiegand states that on the 9th of May she was going along a road, when Rojas met her, and they exchanged a few words. As soon as he approached within reaching distance, however, he struck her a savage blow on the head that knocked her down.

Frightened and bruised she scrambled to her feet, only to meet another blow from the ruffian, which felled her to the ground again, and rendered her momentarily insensible. Rojas, she says, then attempted to outrage her, and had succeeded in almost tearing her clothes from her person, when her husband appeared on the scene. Rojas heard the approaching rescuer, and saw that his game was up. He jumped to his feet, and ran away as fast as he could. Very little explanation was necessary to enable the husband to see what had taken place, and as soon as he had taken his wife home, an alarm was given and a search instituted for Rojas. He wasr arested several days afterward, and the examination resulted as stated.

SUPERVISORS.

A Conference With the Board of Public Works Appointed.

The Board of Supervisors held a session yesterday and transacted the following business:

The previous action of the board relative to the furnishing of names of unknown owners of land was rescinded, and the Clerk instructed to advertise for bids for the furnishing of the list.

A petition from J. W. Foster and others, asking for the formation of Calabasas township, was presented, and the board took the matter under advisement.

A communication from City Clerk Teed, in regard to a meeting of the Board of Public Works of the City Council and the Board of Supervisors, was read, and Wednesday, at 2 o'clock p.m., was set for the meeting. The subjects to be discussed at the meeting are the opening of Alvarado street, the extension of Ninth street, and a culvert on Boyle avenue.

A resolution offered by Supervisor Davis in regard to the San Pedro school district was adopted. It provides that the indefinite action of the board in describing the boundaries of the district be made more definite. That it recognizes the existence of San Pedro school district from February 6, 1884, and it shall be known and designated as the San Pedro district. It ratifies all acts of boards of trustees of the district, by which bonds have been issued and sold or issued or offered for sale in the district.

THE RECEIVING HOSPITAL

Not a Blooming Success on the Third Floor.

There is something of a hitch in the arrangements about the Receiving Hospital, and it is probable that it will have to be changed. The Council rented two rooms on the third floor of the California Bank building. The place was fitted up, and Sunday night a young man picked up on the street suffering from typhoid fever was taken to the hospital until he could be provided for. When this fact became known there was almost a panic among the occupants of the building, and the sick man was at once removed. The place is very unsatisfactory, for the reason that the elevator in the building does not run at night, and, in consequence, it is impossible to get patients up to the room, and they have to be treated at the police station as formerly. For these reasons, and also because the owners of the building are not as anxious to retain the hospital as they were to get it, it will probably be removed before the week is out.

A SEVERED FINGER.

Painful Accident to Gripman Sawyer.

C. G. Sawyer, one of the best known gripmen on the Temple-street cable line, met with a painful accident yesterday. He has been assigned to the superintendence of a construction party for some days, and yesterday, noticing some slot rails lying too close to the track on which a car was about to pass, he laid hold of one to pull it out of the way. It came hard, and he gave an extra tug, one of his fingers slipping into a bolt hole. The rail came away, but in doing so made a quick turn and snapped Mr. Sawyer's finger off above the first joint. A doctor sewed the severed member back in place, and it may adhere. Mr. Sawyer was so overcome by the shock and pain that he fainted, but he quickly recovered and remained about his post of duty most of the afternoon.

SHEVOUOS.

An Israelitish Feast Beginning Tonight.

This evening at sundown the Israelites all over the world will celebrate the Feast of Shevouos, in commemoration of the giving of the law on Sinai.

In Los Angeles this feast will be celebrated with great solemnity. The services in the Synagogue conducted by Rev. A. Blum, will begin at 7:30 p. m., and during the services the rites of confirmation will be administered to 11 children.

There will also be services tomorrow at 10 a.m.

The choir, under the leadership of Prof. Loeb, has prepared new sacred music for this holiday.

Battered with a Chain.

Yesterday afternoon a Chinaman with a badly battered head came to the police station with a horse and buggy, which he said belonged to the man who assaulted him. The heathen lives near the Four-mile House, where he has a truck garden, and says that he had a dispute with a white man about water for irrigating purposes, when the man picked up a chain and struck him over the head, after which he ran off, leaving his team behind. The horse and vehicle were taken care of, and the Chinaman was sent to the Justice to get a warrant, but up to a late hour last night there had been no arrest in the case.

Very Embarrassing.

The members of the City Council are considerably worried over the vacancy in the Police Commission, and have been trying for the past several days to find some representative Democrat who will take the place, but so far have not been successful. There is some talk now of filling the place with a Prohibitionist, but so far the man has not been decided upon, and it is very doubtful if any member of even the third party would consent to serve on the board with a solid combination against him of three members, who have agreed to vote together on all propositions.

ABOUT A DOG.

A Case That Exercised "the Gentleman from Texas."

An amusing case was tried by Justice Lockwood yesterday, it being a civil suit for $100 or the recovery of a dog. The plaintiff was Dr. Faunt, who runs the Pony Livery Stable on Requena street, and the defendant, Poundmaster O'Farrell.

Dr. Faunt had a fine bull dog, which he kept nearly always at his residence, in East Los Angeles. One day not long ago the dog mysteriously disappeared. A search was instituted which resulted in the discovery that the ubiquitous dog-catcher had confiscated the dog. Dr. Faunt went to Poundmaster O'Farrell, who gave him an order on the dog-pound keeper, but the dog was not to be found. It had evidently been sold, and the Doctor was no nearer a recovery than before. The upstart of the matter was a suit for the money or the dog. The case came on for trial yesterday. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Holcomb and the defendant by Attorney Du Val, who is known about town as "the gentleman from Texas." The argument of the defense was long and very eloquent. The atmosphere of the courtroom became surcharged with flights of fervid oratory by "the gentleman from Texas." Pending the decision in the case, however, it was announced that the dog had been returned to its master. The two sides split upon the question of the payment of the costs of the suit, and Mr. DuVal asserted emphatically that he would appeal the case before he would pay the costs. While his back was turned, however, his client went over to Mr. Walker and paid the costs. This so enraged the attorney that he was beside himself. Mr. Holcomb said something; he jumped him. In a frenzied manner he offered Holcomb a dollar if he would come out and fight. The latter only laughed, and went out of the courtroom, leaving the attorney from Texas sawing the air and heaping maledictions upon nothing in particular and everything in general.

CLERKS.

Organization Last Evening—Officers and Committees.

The clerks of Los Angeles held their first meeting last night at the New United States Hotel parlor. A large attendance was present. The meeting was called to order by Fred McGregor, and the following officers were elected:

Recording secretary, Aaron Berliner; financial secretary, Mr. Levy.

The following committees were appointed:

On organization—Millzner, Ward, Johnson, Booth, Jones and Simmons.

On petition—Phillips and Berg.

Executive Committee—D. Someborn, Renchaw and Berg.

On membership—A. Berliner and Mr. Levy.

Another meeting will be held next Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

ANOTHER OIL WELL.

Puente's "Ironclad" with a Good Record.

John Pardee, a well-borer who has been engaged in the Puente oil fields for some time, was in the city yesterday. He reports that the latest well—No. 12, which has been dubbed "The Ironclad"—is now producing 180 barrels of oil a day. It is the largest and best well in the district. The new well began about 10 days ago. Work on another well will be commenced soon.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

A Touching Eulogy on the Late Judge Howard.

At a meeting of the Historical Society last night in Judge Stanton's courtroom Gen. John Mansfield offered a resolution on the death of Gen. Volney E. Howard, a member of the society. The resolution was followed with a biographical sketch of Gen. Howard. On motion of Dr. Orme Gen. Mansfield was requested to furnish a copy of his sketch to the press, and another for filing in the archives of the society.

NO LONGER A TERROR.

Modern Treatment That Cures Constipation.

According to the San Francisco dailies a remedy has been discovered that with almost unerring certainty overcomes constipation. It is the new laxative principle in Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. The papers are full of recent occurrences confirming its efficacy, and we give place to their last sensation, a card from San Francisco's well known lady manicure. She says: "I am willing to relate the following experience. I have for years had a weak stomach attended with constipation, and never found but one preparation that helped me and that soon wore out and lost its effect, and I was again a sufferer till I tried Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It helped me in every way and has thoroughly reorganized me. I had one of the most sensitive of stomachs and was in continual distress, but can with the aid of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla now eat any and everything with my old accustomed freedom without any evil effects. I am both surprised and delighted, and gladly recommend it."

RETIRING FROM BUSINESS.

I would respectfully announce to the citizens of Los Angeles that, owing to a large increase in the rent of my store premises, it will not justify me to remain longer in the cigar and tobacco business at my old stand.
Therefore, please observe and take advantage of the fact that
FOR THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS
I will make a great reduction on former prices.
Imported and Key West Cigars, 10c each; former price, two for 25c.
Imported Cigars, heretofore sold three for 50c, can now be had two for 25c; and those sold for 25c can now be had for 20c.
My best brands of nickel cigars, six for 25c.
Star, Climax and Horseshoe Tobacco, 45c per pound; Pancher do. for 40c per pound.
Leading brands of nickel Cigarettes, six packages for 25c; two 10c cases for 15c, and 20c packages for 15c. Still greater reductions made when sold by the box or quantity.
Meerschaum Pipes and Cigar Holders will be sold at cost. All other goods in proportion. Still greater inducements will be offered to the trade and in quantities.
As I will surrender possession of my store on the 30th day of June, you will please call early and secure a bargain.
I thank my friends and customers for the patronage heretofore bestowed upon me, and trust that at some future date I may be able to serve you again.

BOSTON papers give very complimentary notices of the California traveling exhibit, now in that city.

A GENERAL cut in freight rates to Western points has been inaugurated by the Chicago, Burlington and Northern, and competing lines are forced to meet it.

A FRESNO journal asserts that Fresno county has enough iron ore in sight to duplicate all the navies of the world. It's about time that our enterprising neighbor began to dig some of its ore out.

MR. MCMANIS has formally declined to serve as Police Commissioner. The Council will find it a very difficult matter to get any reputable Democrat to serve on the board, as at present constituted. They had better do as the people ask, and make a clean sweep.

ABOUT the 20th of October next all of the national flags in use in the army and navy and on Government buildings will be out of date—behind the times—and will be replaced by flags whose blue fields are spangled with forty-two stars instead of thirty-eight, as at present, the additions being one for each of the new States of South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, and Washington.

THE crowd of office-seekers at Washington has thinned out to a very considerable degree, and the President has cut down the time which is devoted to receiving callers. The pressure upon the President and his Cabinet officers during the past few weeks has been tremendous. They have been daily sought, entreated, argued with and importuned. The President has hardly been given half a dozen hours a day for reflection and the examination of cases which come before him.

ONE plucky man has got even with the White Caps. A band of these self-constituted guardians of morality undertook to lynch an Iowa farmer for having knocked down a woman who had attacked him with a pitchfork. The intended victim used an iron bar with such effect that the band was driven off, and about a dozen were subsequently arrested. It would be a good thing if a little more of this spirit was displayed in communities infested with such cowardly and un-American organizations.

THE Sacramento Bee, while condoling with Los Angeles over the collapse of the boom, is kind enough to remark that our "prosperity is surprising a good many people," and that Los Angeles is "husbanding its resources in a decidedly creditable way." In return for such condescending courtesy, might we be permitted to remark that Southern Californians are lost in admiration of a city which can hold up under such a combination of inflictions as the late Legislature, Gov. Boruck and 110 in the shade.

THE San Francisco Bulletin comments thusly upon the Chinese operations in Lower California:

The Chinese movement upon Lower California looks like an industrial occupation—a new version of Hawaiian experience. Such a colony will become a bad neighbor. If Mexico were to get a strong hint from the United States she might find it better policy to exclude Chinese than to become a menace to American interests. That is a dangerous position for a weak nation to occupy in the neighborhood of a great power.

THE Pomona Progress gives publicity to the following remarkable item:

An old resident in Southern California calls our attention to the fact that Sundays are the warmest days of the season in this region. He says he has noticed this for fifteen years, and asks others to notice the fact for themselves this season.

If the author of the above original theory would sweat a little more on Sundays, instead of eating a big dinner and sitting around in his store clothes, he might find that Nature does not discriminate against the first day of the week. It will next be in order for some local philosopher to ask why there are two moons on the evening of pay-day.

A NEW VOLUME.

Volume XVI. of the LOS ANGELES TIMES, marking the middle of its eighth year, begins today.

The life of this journal, though not long, has been eventful. Its growth from the very beginning (December 4, 1881,) has been legitimate, steady, strong and rapid. It has undergone five separate enlargements in as many years, expanding from a seven-column folio (four pages) to a seven-column quarto (eight pages,) and from a six-day paper with an abridged telegraphic news budget, to a seven-day paper publishing the entire Associated Press report that comes to the largest of the Pacific Coast papers.

Within the short period named THE TIMES has been compelled, in meeting the steadily-increasing requirements of its circulation, to resort successively to a drum cylinder press, to a two-revolution, to a double-cylinder, and finally to a fast Hoe stereotype perfecting press, capable of throwing off 10,000 eight-page papers per hour, printed, cut, folded, pasted, counted and ready for the newsboy, the mailing clerk or the reader.

Within the same period, or to be more accurate, within the past two years, The Times Building has been completed—a model structure built for and admirably suited to the business; constructed of granite, brick, iron and copper, and located in the heart of the favored city which it is the mission of THE TIMES to further aid in building up.

In the same building, of unique and attractive architecture, is published the WEEKLY MIRROR, a paper older than THE TIMES, and which has grown from a little folio, with pages not bigger than a giant's hand, to a 12-page sheet containing a weekly compendium of the intelligence of the world, and presenting in each issue an elaborate exhibit of the news, the affairs, the interests and the development of Los Angeles County and of Southern California generally.

In the Times Building, also, is our extensive book and mercantile printing establishment, containing eight modern printing machines, a large quantity and variety of types, and all the accessories of a modern metropolitan printing office; also a complete book-bindery.

The business itself has grown greatly, multiplying many times in all its departments, and affording employment to more than one hundred people, directly and indirectly.

These various achievements, of which we have good right to be proud, would not have been possible without persistent and intelligent effort on the part of the owners of THE TIMES, nor without courage, hope and faith in Los Angeles and her people, to whom we owe so much. We have been favored, signally favored, with their confidence, and in return have honestly aimed to serve them with what zeal and ability we possess.

From the outset it has been the policy of the management—and that policy and management have been practically one from almost the beginning—to make the interests of Los Angeles and of all Southern California the distinctive object and aim of our newspaper campaigns; to aid in all legitimite ways the development of this marvelous and richly-endowed country; to proclaim to all the world, and keep proclaiming, the truth about our climates, our soils, our products and our possibilities, to the end that the seekers after health and homes in all sections and all lands might avail themselves of the knowledge so spread abroad and come among us to live and labor, to achieve and build, and to be contented and happy in a land the like of which heaven's sun shines not upon in any other quarter of the known world.

To this end THE TIMES has always been foremost in gathering and presenting facts concerning all legitimate movements for the development and advancement, not only of Los Angeles city and county, but of all the southern counties. Years ago we introduced the practice of publishing regularly careful, elaborate, fair and adequate presentations of the resources, productions, possibilities and advantages of each of the other coast counties of Southern California:—San Diego, San Bernardino, Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo—and that practice has been annually kept up, without intermission, down to the year 1889, inclusive; and from time to time, without reference to season, through our columns we have kept our neighbors before the world in a favorable light. Acting always upon the principle that the development of all the parts was the best thing for a symmetrical whole in the long run, we have consistently made of THE TIMES a Southern California newspaper distinctively, paying special attention, of course, to our own city and county, knowing that all the neighboring counties are provided with strong journals of their own to look in detail after their special interests.

This broad-gauge policy has been found the true and profitable one on our part; we have received credit and shekels accordingly, and have no complaint to make of the position won, and freely accorded us, among the journals of the State.

Within the short life of THE TIMES it has seen a marvelous development here; it has seen Los Angeles grow from a slow town of 12,000 inhabitants to a modern, progressive city of 80,000 people, with corresponding expansion in the county and surrounding territory. The transformation has been unexampled.

Aside from our advocacy, first of local, and next of State interests, which we have steadily held to be rightly paramount, we have devoted THE TIMES and the MIRROR to the news of the world; to those large affairs which concern men and women in common; to literature, art and the sciences; to the farm and the home; and in politics to the interests of the Republican party, that grand organization of wise and patriotic citizens which was born of Freedom's womb, which carried the country through the throes of civil war, struck off the shackles of the slave, saved the Union and maintained the honor of the flag. To this party we have ever given an intelligent, independent, but loyal support, holding to the doctrine, everything for the sake of principle, which is eternal, but not everything for men, who are, at best, only human, weak and erring, and amenable to the just criticisms of their fellows, of whatever creed or party.

Alive to the ever-present and indisputable truth that this world is the scene of a constant struggle between Right and Wrong, between Good and Evil, between the false and the true, we do not deny, but rather affirm, the possession of the belligerent and crusading spirit to a moderate degree—a spirit which prompts us to devotion to the right as God gives us to see the right—trusting to Time to vindicate the purity of our motives, the integrity of our acts and the honor of our course.

Conceiving it to be the right and the duty of an unbought public journal to stand as a sentinel and guardian—yea, as a bulwark—between the people and scoundrels in office or out of office; between honesty and corruption; between patriots and pretenders; between honest statesmen and dishonest demagogues; between weak innocents and strong oppressors—we have not shirked conflicts coming in the line of duty, nor do we expect to evade them in the future.

It is our aim to print the news and tell the truth; and it is always our desire and pleasure to present the better and brighter rather than the more malign side of society to our readers.

Thus passing another mile-post in our journalistic journey, we salute our patrons, brethren, compatriots and friends, and hold on our chosen way, proud of the great company of true men and women, bright boys and girls with whom "We go marching on."

A HORROR OF HORRORS.

It is usual, in the case of great calamities, to find that the first reports of the losses were exaggerated. Unfortunately, we are unable to apply this rule to the great Pennsylvania horror. Later accounts only increase the frightful extent of the disaster—which may be said to be unparalleled in the modern history of the Western hemisphere. The statement of a local contemporary that no disaster comparable to this has occurred during the past century in the annals of mankind is not accurate. About a year ago, the Yellow River flood, in China, destroyed over 2,000,000 human beings. Over a million have since died of famine, and probably as many more will die of inanition, or be killed and eaten by their stronger fellows. This, however, is in a country where life is cheap. It affects the majority of us little more than to learn of a murrain among Australian sheep, or a fatal epidemic among the cattle of New Mexico.

But right here, in our own United States, on one of the main lines of transcontinental travel, among schools and churches and telegraph offices, for ten thousand human beings to be removed, within an hour, from active, healthy, cheerful life to the Great Beyond—that is a disaster alongside of which even the tragedies of Pompeii and Lisbon have to cede their places in the category of mundane horrors.

The loss of life can as yet only be guessed at. It may amount to 10,000—it may be more. It is scarcely probable that it will fall below 8000. At present the dead cannot be counted. It is only possible to number those who once lived in the fated valley, and then deduct from the number those who survive. It is easier to count the survivors than the dead. Beyond the actual loss of life is the danger of an epidemic from the festering remains of the unburied dead—an epidemic which may be spread to distant communities by river-borne germs of disease.

Johnstown, a busy little city of about 30,000 inhabitants, is situated in one of the richest valleys of Pennsylvania, abounding in the finest quality of coal, iron, and natural gas—a busy hive of industry through which runs the Pennsylvania Railroad, one of the main routes which travelers take who journey from the East to California. Eighteen miles up the valley from Johnstown is a great reservoir or lake, from 200 to 300 feet above the level of the city. It is three and a half miles long and from one to one and a half miles in depth. It holds—or rather held—more water than any other reservoir, natural or artificial, in the United States. It was held in check by a dam 700 to 1000 feet wide, 90 feet thick at the base, 20 feet at the top, and 110 feet high. Recognizing the menace which the lake held to the region below, it was frequently inspected, at regular intervals, by the engineers of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who only recently reported that nothing less than some convulsion of Nature could tear the barrier away.

That convulsion apparently came. Whether it was a cloudburst or an earthquake or what is not now known, but about 1 o'clock of Friday last the water was observed to be flowing over the top of the reservoir. An alarm was sent down to Johnstown and the intervening villages. It was little heeded. Frequently, in times of high flood, similar messages had come down from the mountain reservoir. It was the old fable of the boy and the wolf, once more. A few, more careful or more nervous than their fellows, took to the surrounding hills, but the great bulk of the doomed citizens pursued the even tenor of their way. Then came a brave rider on a panting steed, who shouted words of warning as he flew past, imploring those within sound of his voice to flee from the wrath to come. Much as Noah was regarded by the people of his time did the citizens of that ill-fated valley look upon this forerunner of ill. They deemed him mad or drunk.

In very few moments followed the watery ruin which the wild rider had foretold. A wall of water [illegible] high swept down at railroad the doomed city. With the [illegible] an ayalanche, it tore great [illegible] from their foundations, gro[illegible] together, plowed up the [illegible] swept the town and it[illegible] along in the resistless fl[illegible] stood in the way. The [illegible] débris lodged up [illegible] above it, took fire, and [illegible] stream, midst the roar of [illegible] hundreds of half-drown[illegible] were slowly burned to d[illegible] acres of ruins, while the [illegible] agony rose above the r[illegible] and their friends a[illegible] looked on from the shore [illegible] assist.

Within one short ha[illegible] tire households, hote[illegible] guests, schools full [illegible] factories full of wo[illegible] dashed from cheerful a[illegible] watery grave and the [illegible] corpses hurried down t[illegible] worse than that, saved [illegible] dreadful fate of slow [illegible] The surviving member [illegible] who has one or two left t[illegible] is fortunate, while hund[illegible] day the only living repr[illegible] happy family circles th[illegible] dozen or more. To [illegible] which saved them is [illegible] They feel that they wo[illegible] where their all has gone.

The imagination fa[illegible] completely the horror[illegible] scene. The sufferers th[illegible] men wounded in battle[illegible] realize their infliction [illegible] citement of the rush a[illegible] the blow are over. The [illegible] is limited in capacity [illegible] hold more than a certa[illegible] suffering at once. [illegible] would burst. When [illegible] have come and gone, a[illegible] on one familiar face of [illegible] these bereaved ones wil[illegible] crushing affliction yet m[illegible] do today. In the face o[illegible] sorrow, all human syn[illegible] little avail. We can only [illegible] the inscrutable providenc[illegible] mitted so awful a calam[illegible] able the survivors to bea[illegible] their almost unbearable in[illegible]

As to the lessons which [illegible] teaches: Firstly, in genera[illegible] mined of the utter insig[illegible] man. In spite of the wis[illegible] put an electric girdle [illegible] world; that has drained [illegible] irrigated deserts; that h[illegible] ture give up her innerm[illegible] in spite of these things [illegible] man, stands today as powe[illegible] a convulsion of Nature as w[illegible] genitors, who roamed [illegible] clothed in skins. Let [illegible] above the earth be let l[illegible] winds of heaven gather [illegible] the subterranean gases di[illegible] selves, and the proudest t[illegible] our architects and eng[illegible] leveled to the dust, wh[illegible] selves are swept to [illegible] like ants in an [illegible] ditch or moths [illegible]

[illegible] sumed in the flames [illegible] ondly, in particular, the [illegible] this calamity seems to te[illegible] is that human beings should not tempt death by settling thickly right in the course of an imprisoned mounatin of waters—in a narrow valley, crowned by a great reservoir, however thick the walls may be which hold its death-dealing powers in check. Such a death-trap may be safe for hundred or for a thousand years, but what does that avail the unfortunates who perish in the thousand and first year? Let this lesson be laid well to heart, and the present disaster—the greatest which has ever visited this country—may not have been in vain.

Meantime, let us loosen not only our hearts, but also our purse-strings, to the unfortunates in that Pennsylvania valley.

A SERIOUS "JEST."

THE TIMES has received a letter from Santa Ana concerning the threat of hanging said to have been uttered against an anti-divisionist by Dr. Head of Garden Grove, in a recent speech delivered at Orange. Our correspondent maintains that the speaker was only jesting. He says: "In giving what he claimed would be the vote of the various precincts in his section, he (Dr. Head) stated that Fountain Valley precinct would be solid for county division, and on being applauded he simply, jestingly and playfully added that if any one there ventured to vote against it they would hang him. Every person who heard the Doctor's remarks knew that he was simply jesting, and no person except those who wish to falsify would be guilty of publishing that circular"—(referring to the circular with the cut of a hanging corpse, which was printed and distributed in the Santa Ana Valley.)

Such is our correspondent's denial. On the other hand, a gentleman who was present and took part in the Orange meeting and heard Dr. Head make the remarks attributed to him, expresses to THE TIMES the unqualified opinion that Dr. Head was in dead earnest in his sanguinary utterance; and furthermore says that the applause of his auditors at his remarks showed the temper of their minds on the subject.

We have now presented, with perpendicular fairness, both sides of this disputed episode, and await the returns of today's election.

Griffin to Fight Warren.

BOSTON, June 3.—Johnny Griffin, the Braintree feather-weight who surprised sporting men by defeating Jack Havlin in remarkably quick time, has been selected to go to San Francisco to fight Tommy Warren. It was understood that the winner of the Havlin-Griffin fight would be selected by the California Athletic Club to meet Warren, and he will be sent there at once.

Chicago Fruit Sales.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Porter Bros. & Co., agents of the California Fruit Union, sold fruit today as follows: Peaches, $2.50 to $1.70; apricots, $2.90 to $1.50; cherries, $1.15 to $1.05; plums, $1.85 to $1.45.

Naval Cadet Appointed.

VENTURA, June 3.—David M. Berry, aged 17, has been appointed to the Annapolis Naval Academy from the Sixth District.

MORE HORROR.

latterly the property of a club at Pittsburgh, and used for hunting and fishing, was unsafe and might break. This made most of the passengers uneasy, and they kept a pretty good look-out for information. The porters of the Pullman cars remained at their posts, and comforted the passengers with the assurance that the Pennsylvania Company always took care of its patrons. A few gentlemen and some ladies and children quietly seated themselves, apparently contented. One gentleman who was ill, had his berth made up and retired, although advised not to do so. Soon the cry came that water in the reservoir had broken down the barrier and was sweeping down the valley. Instantly there was a panic and rush for the mountain side. Children were carried and women assisted by the few who kept cool heads. It was

A RACE FOR LIFE.

Then was seen the black head of the flood, now a monster of destruction whose crest was high raised in air, and with this in view even the weak found wings for their feet. No words can adequately describe the terror that filled every breast or the awful power manifested by the flood. The roundhouse had stalls for 23 locomotives. There were eighteen or twenty of these standing there at the time. There was an ominous crash, and the roundhouse and locomotives disappeared. Everything on the main track of the flood was first lifted in the air and then swallowed up by the waters. Hundreds of houses were swept away in a few minutes. These include the hotel, stores and saloons on Front street and residences adjacent. The locomotive of one of the trains was struck by a house and demolished. The side of another house stopped in front of another locomotive and served as a shield. The rear car of the mail train swung around in the rear of the second section of the express and turned over on its side. Three men were observed standing upon it as it floated. Will they trust to it or to the still upright Pullman cars? The coupling broke and the car moved out upon the bosom of the waters. As it would roll the men would shift their position.

THE SITUATION WAS DESPERATE, and they were given up for lost. Two or three hardy men seized ropes and ran along the mountain side to give them aid. Later it was reported that the men escaped over some driftwood as their car was carried near the bank. It is believed there were several women and children inside of the car. Of course they were drowned.

As the fugitives on the mountain side witnessed the awful devastation they were moved as never before in their lives. They were powerless to help those seized upon by the waters. The despair of those who had lost everything except life, and the wailing of those whose relatives or friends were missing filled their breasts with unutterable sorrow. The rain continued to fall steadily, but shelter was not thought of. Very few passengers saved anything from the train, so sudden was the cry: "Run for your lives. The reservoir has broken."

Many were without hats, and as their baggage was left on the trains they were without means of relieving their unhappy condition. The occupants of houses still standing on high ground threw them open to those who had lost all and to the passengers on the train.

During the height of the flood the spectators were startled by the sound of two locomotive whistles from the very midst of the waters. Two engineers, with characteristic courage, had remained at their posts, and while there was

and apparently no escape for them, they sounded their whistles. This they repeated at intervals, the last time with triumphant vigor, as the waters were receding from the sides of their locomotives.

By half past 5 the force of the reservoir waters had been spent on the village of Conemaugh and the Pullman cars and locomotives of the second section remained unbroken. [illegible] was [illegible] lying on the [illegible] portion of the reservoir [illegible] between that and the [illegible] current of the river did [illegible] it away. Part of other trains [illegible] destroyed. A solitary locomotive [illegible] imbedded in the mud where the round-house had stood.

As the greatest danger had passed the the people of Conemaugh gave their thoughts to their neighbors of the city of Johnstown. Here was centered the great steel and iron industries, the pride of Western Pennsylvania, the Cambria Iron Works being known everywhere. Here were churches, daily newspapers, banks, dry-goods houses, warehouses and comfortable and well-built homes of 12,000 people. What was their fate? In contemplating the irresistible force of that awful flood, gathering additional momentum as it swept on towards the gulf, it became clear that the city must be destroyed and that unless the inhabitants had telegraphic notice of the breaking of the reservoir,

THEY MUST PERISH.

A cry of horror went up from hundreds on the mountain side and a few instinctively turned their steps toward Johnstown. The city was destroyed. All the mills, furnaces, manufactories, the many and varied industries, banks, residences—all were swallowed up before the shadows of night had settled down upon the earth. What of the inhabitants? Who can tell with any certainty? Those who came back by daybreak said that from five to eight thousand had been drowned. Our hope is that this is exaggeration, and when the roll is called the most will respond. In the light of this calamity the destruction at Conemaugh sinks into insignificance. In this latter place they were already bringing in the dead on stretchers. How many have been lost here, at Mineral Point and at South Fork, could not be told, and may be never known. There were some passengers and probably forty or fifty inhabitants.

The loss of property is enormous. The track of the railroad company is certainly destroyed for at least ten miles below South Fork, and all other property of the company on the line.

MOST COSTLY PLEASURE.

The destruction of the Johnstown industries will alone reach many millions. Then to this great sum add the value of houses and public buildings in that city and in the villages above and below it, and some idea can be formed of the wealth obliterated by the flood, created by the breaking of the reservoir. And this was maintained for the pleasure of the Pittsburgh club. Upon the mountain was suspended a body of water three miles long, one mile wide and seventy feet deep, for the recreation of a few pleasure-seekers. What would happen if there should be a break must have been imperfectly apprehended, since it was said that a bond of only $3,000,000 had been exacted from the club. What are $3,000,000 as a gross sum for the destruction of property? Can they restore the dead to life, or assuage the grief of the bereaved? A question of moral responsibility swallows them up as completely as the angry waters did the city of Johnstown.

Many exaggerated stories are current, and these grow as often as they are repeated. It will be many days before the real facts can be approximated.

It is feared that John W. Ealy of 278 and 280 Broadway, New York, was drowned, as he had lain down in his berth but a few minutes before the break, and was not seen afterward. It was reported that Mr. Webb, a boss carpenter; Mr. Wierman, a civil engineer, and the engineer and fireman who were with Asst. Supt. Trump's special were drowned, and that Mr. Trump escaped by climbing a tree. This has since been contradicted. It was also reported that the limited, that left Chicago Thursday evening, was swallowed, and all on board lost. But this is incorrect, as the limited and atlantic express are both at Altoona.

The representative of the Associated Press was on the second section caught at Conemaugh, and after witnessing the worst there, procured a team and drove over the mountain to Ebenburg, a distance of 16 miles, in the hope of getting off a report by telegraph. The best he could do was to send a few words to the Philadelphia office, saying that the passengers on the train had escaped. If these got beyond the break at Tyrone, there are less anxious hearts in distance cities. What lies west of Johnstown is enveloped in impenetrable obsurity.

WILLIAM HENRY SMITH.

HOW THE DAM BURST.

A Nameless Hero Who Died While Warning the People.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] Four gentlemen, relatives of members of the South Fork Fishing Club, who went to learn the fate of their friends at the lake, have just returned. They report that no one was at the lake except the custodians and some workmen. The dam broke in the center, at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon. At 4 o'clock the lake was dry. That great body of water passed out in an hour. An effort was made to avert the disaster by digging a sluiceway on one side to ease the pressure on the dam, but without avail. The water passed over the dam about a foot above its top, beginning at 2:30.

Whatever happened in the way of a cloudburst took place during the night.

There had been but little rain up to dark, and in the morning, when the workmen awoke, the lake was full and kept on rising rapidly until at 2 o'clock it began pouring over the dam and undermining it. Men were sent three or four times during the day to warn people below. When the final break came there was a sound like tremendous continued peals of thunder. Trees, rocks and earth shot into mid-air in great columns. Then the wave swept down the ravine. The whole South Fork was swept, with not a tree standing.

A NAMELESS HERO.

A nameless Paul Revere lies somewhere among the nameless dead. Who he is may never be known, but his ride will be famous in local history. Mounted on a grand big bay horse, he came riding down the pike which passed through Conemaugh to Johnstown like some angel of wrath of old, shouting his portentous warning: "Run for your lives to the hills! Run to the hills!" People crowded out of their houses alongthe thickly-settled streets awe-struck and wondering. Nobody knew the man, and some thought he was a maniac and laughed. On at a terrible pace rode this man, still ringing out his awful cry.

In a few moments, however, there came a cloud of ruin down the broad streets, down narrow alleys, grinding, twisting, hurling, overturning, crashing, annihilating Pullman cars? The coupling broke and the weak and strong alike. It was the charge of the flood, wearing its coronet of ruin and devastation, which grew at every instant of its progress 40 feet high, some say 30. According to some it was a sea, and it traveled with a swiftness like that which lay hidden in the heels of Mercury. On and on raced the rider, and on and on rushed the wave.

Dozens of people took heed of his warning and ran up to the hill. To the poor faithful rider it was an unequal contest. Just as he turned across the railroad bridge, the mighty wave fell upon him, and horse, rider and bridge all went out into chaos together.

AMONG THE RUINS.

SCENES IN THE CITY OF THE DEAD.

Drunken Visitors Indulge in Hideous Orgies—Why Militia Were Not Summoned—A Scarcity of Coffins.

By Telegraph to The Times.

JOHNSTOWN (Pa.), June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] A sad and gloomy sky, almost as sad and gloomy as the human faces under it, shrouded Johnstown today. Rain fell all day, and added to the miseries of the wretched people. The great plain, where the best part of Johnstown used to stand, is half covered with water. The few sidewalks in the part that escaped the flood were inches thick with black, sticky mud, through which tramped a steady procession of poor women who are left utterly destitute. The tents where the people are housed who cannot find other shelter were cold and cheerless. The town seemed like a great [illegible]. The people of Johnstown have stopped [illegible] about in a sort of daze, and only half conscious of their griefs. Every hour as one goes through the streets he hears neighbors greeting each other, and then inquiring, without show of feeling, how many each had lost in his family. Today I heard a gray-haired man hail another across the street with this question:

"I lost five; all are gone but Mary and I," was the reply.

"I am worse off than that," said the first old gentleman, "I have only my grandson left. Seven of us are gone." And so they passed on without apparent excitement. They and everyone else had heard so much of these melancholy conversations that somehow the calamity had lost its significance. They treat it exactly as if the dead persons had gone away and were coming back in a week.

DRUNKEN SIGHTSEERS.

The melancholy task of searching the ruins for more bodies went on today in the soaking rain. There were little crowds of morbid curiosity-hunters around each knot of workingmen. Even those who came in from neighboring towns with an idea of a day's strange and ghastly experiences did not care to be near after they had seen one body exhumed. There were hundreds and thousands of these visitors from the country today. The effect of the dreadful things they saw and heard was to drive most of them to drink. By noon the streets were beginning to be full of boistrous and noisy countrymen, who were trying to counteract the strain on their nerves with unnatural excitement. Then half of the police force, seeing that unseemly sights were likely to disgrace the streets, drove them out and kept out all visitors who had not some good reason for their presence. After that, and far into the evening, all the country roads were filled with drunken stragglers, who were trying to forget what they had seen.

THE SEARCH VERY SLOW.

One thing that makes the work of searching for bodies very slow is the strange way that great masses of objects were rolled into intricate masses of rubbish. As the flood came down the valley of the South Fork it obliterated the suburb of Woodvale, where not a house was left nor a trace of one. The material they had contained it rolled on down the valley, over and over, grinding it up to pulp and finally leaving it against an unusually firm foundation. These masses of wreckage contain human bodies, but it is slow work to pick the débris to pieces. Inside of one of them today I saw the remnants of a carriage, the body of a harnessed horse, a baby cradle and doll, a tress of human hair, a rocking-horse and a piece of beefsteak still hanging to a hook.

The city now is very much better patrolled than it has been at any time since the flood occurred. Many members of the police force of Pittsburgh came in and offered their services. One of them showed his spirit by striking a man whom he saw opening a trunk among the rubbish, a tremendous blow over the head which knocked him senseless. Several big trunks and safes lie in full sight on the desolate plain in the lower part of the town, but no one has dared to touch them after that.

A man named Dougherty tells a thrilling story of a ride down the river on a log. When the waters struck the roof of a house on which he had taken shelter, he jumped out astride a telegraph pole, riding a distance of some 23 miles, from Johnstown to Bolivar, before he was rescued.

HASTINGS AND THE MILITIA.

Many inquiries have been made as to why the militia did not respond when ordered out by Adjt.-Gen. Hastings. In the first place it is beyond the General's authority to order troops to a scene of this kind, unless the Governor first issues a proclamation. Then it becomes his duty to issue the orders. The General said he was notified that Pittsbugh troops, consisting of the Fourteenth and Eighteenth regiments, had tendered their services, and no doubt would have been of great service. The General consulted with the Chief Burgess of Johnstown and the Sheriff of Cambria county in regard to calling troops to the scene, but both officials strenuously objected, as they claimed that anything of this kind was unnecessary. As a proof of this, not a breach of the peace was committed last night in Johnstown and vicinity.

Gen. Hastings said he estimated the loss of human lives at not less than 7000.

It has not been generally believed that the dist[illegible] in the neighborhood of Kernville would be so extremely.

PROLIFIC OF CORPSES

as it has proven to be. The Associated Press correspondent visited that part of the town where both the river and Stony Creek have done their worst. He found that within the past 24 hours almost 1000 have been recovered or were in sight. The place is one great repository of the dead.

Every day adds a long list of dear ones lost. One hundred and fifty persons were taken out along Stony Creek this morning. One hundred and seventy-five bodies were recovered today at Morrellville. Four were still alive, but severely injured. The Grand View Cemetery has 300 buried in it. All met death in the flood. They have 35 men digging graves. Seven hundred dead bodies are in the hospital on Bedford street. One hundred and fifty dead bodies are at the school-house hospital on Adam street. Three hundred bodies were found today in the sand banks along Stony Creek in the vicinity of the Baltimore and Ohio road. One hundred and eight two bodies are at Ninevah. The hourly recovery of bodies near the vicinity of what was once the Baltimore and Ohio depot Johnstown is increasing with frightful rapidity. Half of the unknown dead are mangled, or burned, or crushed beyond recognition.

SCARCITY OF COFFINS.

Ever since the recovery of the first body the populace have not had near enough coffins for the dead, although hundreds arrive daily, and owing to the decomposed condition of most of the bodies they have to be, and are, boxed up in rough board boxes—merely store boxes and buried at once.

A man named Christ Myer has been rendered completely insane by the fact that his mother, father, two sisters and brother are among the missing. When notified of the loss of his family he threw up his hands and exclaimed: "My God! what will come next?" From that time, which was last night, until the present he has been hopelessly insane, even at times becoming violent and wanting to kill himself.

EX-POSTMASTER GENERAL HATTON.

Three anxious inquiries sent by President Harrison today caused a general belief that ex-Postmaster General Hatton was among the passengers who were killed on the Pennsylvania road last Friday. President Harrison knew that Hatton was on that train, and asked Adjt.-Gen. Hastings to ascertain Hatton's fate. No one here knew anything about his whereabouts.

MANAGER SMITH'S EXPERIENCE.

This afternoon William Henry Smith, general manager of the Associated Press, came in from Ebensburg, where he and Mr. Hatton had been since the rain was lost. They were on the train together, and had a very narrow escape from death. All the passengers, 12 or 13 in number, who left the train were killed. Mr. Hatton and Mr. Smith were lucky enough to stick to the train. Mr. Smith was in a hurry to get west and forced his way over the mountains to Johnstown. Mr. Hatton and the rest of the passengers are waiting for the Pennsylvania road to resume operations. Immediately on receipt of this news Gen. Hastings forwarded it to the President.

CALIFORNIA VICTIMS.

An Etiwanda Family Among the Johnstown Dead.

POMONA, June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] A dispatch received here today from Blairsfield, Pa., announcing that Philip Clarkson, his wife and infant son, residents of Etiwanda, this county, were drowned in the flood at Johnstown on Friday. They had been East since February, and about a week ago went to Johnstown to visit a relative who is proprietor of a hotel there. Clarkson and family were in the dining-room when the flood came into the building. They immediately went to an upper floor, but the building was soon washed away and the family, with many more, were drowned. Their bodies were recovered in the débris of the hotel, and will be taken to Ohio for burial. Two children, now in Merced, survive their parents.

A NEW PERIL.

DECAYING CORPSES THREATEN AN EPIDEMIC.

Physicians Ask that the Debris be Allowed to Burn and Consume the Dead—The Request Denied.

By Telegraph to The Times.

JOHNSTOWN (Pa.), June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The dark disaster of the day with its attendant terrors has thrilled the universe and drawn two continents closer together in the bonds of sympathy that bind humanity. The midnight terrors of Ashtabula and Chatsworth evoked tears of pity from every fireside in Christendom, but the true story of Johnstown, when all is known, will stand solitary and alone as the acme of man's annihilation by the potent forces to which humanity is ever subject.

Menacing clouds still hover darkly over the valley of death, and the muttering thunder that ever and anon reverberates in the distance seems like the sardonic chuckle of the demon of destruction. But the modern deluge has done its worst for Johnstown.

The waters are rapidly subsiding, but the angry torrent still eddies around the scene of destruction, and the time has not yet arrived to tell the pathetic tale of destruction of black Friday.

It is not a hackneyed utterance to say that no pen can adequately depict the horrors of this twin disaster, the holocaust and the deluge. The deep emotions that swell from the heart of every spectator find the most eloquent expression in silence—the silence that bespeaks man's recognition of his subservience to the elements and impotence to avert catastrophe.

The morning opens dark and dreary. Great drops of rain fall occasionally. Another storm seems imminent. Every one feels thankful though, that the weather still remains cool and the gradual putrefaction of hundreds of bodies that still line the streams and lie hidden under miles of driftwood and débris is not unduly hastened. This morning the peculiar stench of is plainly perceptible to the senses as one ascends the banks of Stony Creek for half a mile along smoldering ruins of wreck, and the most skeptical now concede the worst, and realize that perhaps thousands of bodies lie charred and blackened beneath this great funeral pyre.

The searchers wander wearily over the smoking mass, and as occasionally a sudden shout comes over the waters, the patient watchers on the hill realize that another ghastly discovery has been added to the long list of revelations that chill every heart and draw tears to the eyes of the pessimist.

From the banks many charred remains of victims of the flames and flood are plainly visible as the receding waters reluctantly give up their dead. Beneath almost every log or blackened beam the glistening skull or blanched remnants of ribs or limbs mark all that remains of life's hopes and dreams.

Since 10 o'clock last night the fire engines have been busy. Water has been constantly playing on the burning ruins. At times the fire seems almost extinguished, but fitful flames suddenly break out afresh in new quarters, and again water and flames wage a fierce combat.

THE DOCTORS' WARNING UNHEEDED.

The chief sensation of the morning has been the united remonstrance of the physicians against the extinguishment of the burning wreck. They maintain, with a philosophy that to the anxious searchers seems heartless, that hundreds, if not thousands of lifeless, decaying bodies lie beneath this mass of burning ruins.

It would be better, they say, to permit Nature's greatest scavenger, the flames, to pursue his work unmolested, than to expose to further decay the horde of putrefying bodies that lie beneath this débris. There can be but one result. Days will elapse before the rubbish can be sufficiently removed to permit the recovery of these bodies, and long ere that every corpse will be a putrid mass, yielding forth those frightful emanations of decaying human flesh that in a crowded community like this can give but one result. The dreadful typhus on every battlefield has demonstrated the necessity of hasty interment of decaying bodies, and the stench that already arises is a forerunner of impending danger. "Burn the wreck! Burn the wreck!"

A loud cry of indignation arose from the lips of a vast multitude, and the warnings of science were lost in the eagar demands of those that sought the remains of the near and dear.

The hose was again turned upon the hissing mass, and rapidly the flames yielded to the supremacy of water. It is almost impossible to conceive of the extent of the smoking ruins. An area of 8 or 10 acres above the dam is covered to a depth of 40 feet with shattered houses, borne from the neighborhood of Johnstown.

In each of these houses it is estimated there is from one to twenty or twenty-five people. This is accepted as data upon which to estimate the number that perished upon this spot, and if the data be correct, the bodies that lie beneath must run well up into the hundreds, if not into the thousands.

RELIEF MEASURES.

GOV. BEAVER'S PROCLAMATION CALLING FOR AID.

The Generous Heart of the Whole Nation Responding to the Call — Funds Being Rapidly Raised.

By Telegraph to The Times.

HARRISBURG (Pa.), June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] Late tonight Gov. Beaver issued a strong appeal for aid. It is addressed to the people of the United States, and is as follows:

"The Executive of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has refrained hitherto from making the appeal to the people for their benefactions, in order that he might receive definite reliable information from the centers of disaster during the late floods, which have been unprecedented in the history of the State or Nation. Communication by wire has been established with Johnstown today. The civil authorities are in control, the Adjutant-General of the State coöperating with them. Order has been restored, and is likely to continue. Newspaper reports as to loss of life and property have not been exaggerated. The valley of Conemaugh, which is peculiar, has been swept from one end to the other as with a besom of destruction. It contained a population of 40,000 to 50,000 people, living for the most part along the banks of a small river confined within narrow limits. The most conservative estimates place the loss of life at 5000 human beings and of property at $25,000,000. The whole town has been completely destroyed. Not a vestige remains. In the more substantial towns better buildings to a certain extent remain, but in a damaged condition. Those who are least able to bear it have suffered the loss of everything. The most pressing need, as far as food is concerned, has been supplied. Other things, and clothing of all sorts for men, women and children are greatly needed. Money is also urgently required to remove the débris, bury the dead, and care temporarily for the widows and orphans and for the homeless families. Other localities have suffered to some extent in the same way, but not in the same degree.

"Late advices would seem to indicate that there is a great loss of life and destruction of property along the west branch of the Susquehanna, and in localities from which we can get no definite information. What does come, however, is of a most appalling character, and it is expected that the details will add new horrors to the situation. Responses from within and without have been most generous and cheering. North and South, East and West, from the United States and from England, there came the same hearty and generous response of sympathy and help. The President, governors of States, mayors of cities and individuals and communites, private and municipal corporations seem to vie with each other in their expressions of sympathy and in their contributions of substantial aid. But gratifying as their responses are, there is no danger of their exceeding the necessities of the situation.

"Careful organization has been made upon the ground for the distribution of whatever assistance is furnished in kind. The Adjutant-General of the State is there as the representative of the State authorities, and is giving personal attention in connection with the Chief Burgess of Johnstown, and a committee of relief to the distribution of help which is furnished. The funds contributed in aid of the sufferers can be deposited with Drexel & Co., Philadelphia, Jacob E. Bomberger, banker at Harrisburg, or William R. Thompson & Co., bankers at Pittsburgh. All money contributed will be used carefully and judiciously. The present wants are fairly met. A large force will be employed at once to remove the débris and bury the dead, so as to avoid disease and epidemic.

"The people of the Commonwealth and others whose unselfish generosity is hereby heartily appreciated and acknowledged, may be assured that the contributions will be faithfully husbanded and judiciously expended, and that every effort possible will be made to bring their benefactions to the immediate and direct relief of those for whose benefit they are intended.

JAMES A. BEAVER,
Governor.
CHARLES W. STONE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

HELPING HAND.

Substantial Aid Pouring Into the Afflicted Community.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The Masonic Relief Committee telegraphed President Harrison this afternoon urging the appointment of a national committee to take charge of sanitary affairs at the scene of the disaster. It was urged that the presence of so many decaying corpses would breed a pestilence. They were besides polluting the water of the streams, affecting all the country between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. President Harrison conferred with Gen. Schofield, and shortly after Surgeon General Hamilton was summoned to take part in the conference. The fact was developed that the National Sanitary Corps, if such it may be called, is composed of physicians located at various points. Dr. Atkinson would confer with and assist the Pennsylvania State Board of Health in any measures it might institute in aid of public health and comfort, and Surgeon General Hamilton would be ready to give advice or assistance, so whatever was undertaken might be carried forward by official sanction and authority. Instructions in accordance with this decision were at once sent to Dr. Atkinson by Surgeon General Hamilton.

The following telegram was received this evening by the President from Gov. Beaver:

"The Sheriff of Cambria county says he can control the situation without the aid of troops. The people are fairly housed, and good order prevails. The supply of food so far is equal to the demand, but supplies of food and clothing are still greatly needed. Conservative estimates place the loss of life at 5000 to 10,000, and the loss of property from $25,000,000 to $40,000,000. People are at work heroically, and will have a large force tomorrow clearing away the débris. The sympathies of the world are freely expressed. One telegram from England gives $1000. Help comes from all quarters. It is universal, and greatly encourages our people. I will communicate with you promptly if anything unusual occurs."

Officials at the War Department have learned of the existence of fifty tents at Pittsburg, which by order of Gen. Schofield, after consultation with the President, were turned over to the local authorities.

The President tonight received from P. Quaid, president of the Jacksonville Auxiliary Sanitary Association, a telegram stating that that body had placed $2000 subject to the President's sight draft for the Johnstown flood sufferers.

Upon the invitation of the President the Commissioners of the District met him in conference this evening. As a result a meeting of citizens will be held tomorrow, and President Harrison will preside.

TANNER'S TIMELY ORDER.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Pension Commissioner Tanner to day sent the following telegram to the United States Pension Agent at Pittsburgh:

"Make special any current vouchers received from towns in Pennsylvania ruined by the floods, and pay at once on their receipt. Where certificates have been lost in the floods send permit to execute new vouchers without presenting certificates to a magistrate. Permits signed in blank were forwarded today. Make special all original certificates of pensioners residing in those towns, and pay on receipt of vouchers, regardless of my instructions of May 15th."

RAISING FUNDS.

BOSTON, June 3.—The House this afternoon suspended its rules and admitted a bill appropriating $10,000 for relief of the Pennsylvania sufferers.

OMAHA (Neb.), June 3.—The Mayor today issued a proclamation calling on the people of Omaha for aid for the sufferers in the Pennsylvania floods. The general manager of the Pacific Express Company offers transportation over the company's lines of all money and merchandise intended for the sufferers free of charge.

HARTFORD (Ct.), June 3.—The House today concurred with the Senate in passing a resolution appropriating $25,000 for the flood sufferers in Pennsylvania.

DENVER, June 3.—Mayor Londoner has issued a call for a mass meeting of citizens at the Chamber of Commerce tonight, to take some action to secure contributions for relief of the flood sufferers in Pennsylvania. Several subscription lists have already been started, and probably a large sum will be raised within the next day or two.

THE MASONS' REQUEST.

PITTSBURGH, June 3.—The Pittsburgh Masonic fraternity, at a meeting this morning, telegraphed President Harrison, asking him to send out a sanitary commission, warning him that unless prompt action is taken to remove the dead bodies of men and animals from the streams, the water will be polluted and carry plague germs to the people from Pittsburgh to New Orleans.

CALIFORNIA WILL CONTRIBUTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—At a meeting of citizens this afternoon to raise a fund for the relief of the flood sufferers, committees were appointed to receive subscriptions. George W. Gibbs started the fund with $1000, and inside of an hour the sum of $3600 was raised. The French Celebration Committee has given the proceeds of the celebration to be held next month. The indications are that a large sum of money will be raised.

PASADENA, June 3.—The Board of Trade has called a meeting to raise donations for the Pennsylvania flood sufferers. The Episcopal Church forwarded $50 this afternoon.

AID FROM ABROAD.

BERLIN, June 3.—A fund for the relief of the Johnstown flood sufferers has been organized in this city.

LONDON, June 3.—Some persons are desirous that a fund be started at the Mansion House for the relief of the sufferers by the Johnstown floods. The Lord Mayor was absent from his office today, but his secretary in answer to an inquiry said he did not think it probable that such a fund would be opened.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—A subscription for the relief of the Johnstown sufferers was started at the Postoffice Department today. Indications are that nearly $1000 will be raised in this department. Postmaster-General Wanamaker had already subscribed $1000 in Philadelphia.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Associated Press dispatches from many points show an aggregate collection during the afternoon and evening for the flood sufferers of $305,091.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Mayor Cregier after a meeting of citizens today forwarded a draft of $5000 for the relief of the Johnstown sufferers. He wired, "other sums will follow swiftly." A telegram from San Francisco says similar action was taken there, Mayor Pond wiring $4000 which was subscribed in a few moments. Dispatches tonight from Denver and other points throughout the West tell of active work everywhere for Johnstown.

THE POTOMAC FRESHET.

The Waters Subsiding—Long Bridge Badly Wrecked.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] After reaching the highest mark on record yesterday afternoon, the Potomac began to fall rapidly, and this morning the streets in South Washington were free from water. All along the river front it gradually receded throughout the day, bringing the wharves once more to view. Hundreds of fish were left behind by the receding stream, and were caught with the hands by boys and men, who searched through the wet grass and elsewhere for them. The Fish Commission spread large nets out in the river, near the monument, for the purpose of recovering as many German carp, which escaped from the breeding station, as possible. Besides the carp, a million young shad, two inches long, were set at liberty by the flood. Several schooners and large boats have been left high and dry.

Fears have been expressed that the foundation of the Washington monument might have been seriously damaged, and a careful examination will be made.

Long bridge, which it has been feared all along would be swept away, remained intact until this afternoon, when one of the spans next the draw broke loose and started down the river. One other span will have to be cut away, and tomorrow the work of repairing the bridge will begin. It is badly wrecked and torn, and will cause considerable loss to the Pennsylvania Railroad.

J. Lowrie Bell, superintendent of the railway mail service, states that transportation of mails is in a confused state. The New York Central is clear, and last night a special train containing the accumulated mail for the West was dispatched. Mail for the West was coming east on the same line. Southern connections are interrupted. But mail matter is now being sent by the Chesapeake Bay line to Norfolk and thence to Weldon, N. C. From there communication is maintained. Tomorrow the Piedmont Air Line will reach Alexandria and then the mails will be sent there from this city by ferry boats.

Capt. Folger in charge of the navy yard has reported to the Navy Department that the yard will be cleared up and put in working order by Wednesday. The damage by the flood will not exceed $5000.

The wreck of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal is the most serious result of the flood in the Potomac. The canal cost more than $11,000,000. Since its commencement the total expenditure has reached nearly $40,000,000. Senator Gorham says the canal will have to be abandoned as the company will be unable to raise means with which to make repairs needed.

WRECKED RAILWAYS.

Many of the Roads Unable to Run Trains.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The best information that can be obtained today at the Pennsylvania office in this city is that the road will be patched up to Altoona within 36 hours, thus giving 800 or more east and westbound passengers, laid up at this place, an opportunity to get away. It is also stated here that only seven passengers of the ill-fated trains were lost.

On the middle division of the main line the road is clear from Altoona to Petersburg. From Huntington to Manayunk bridge there are several bad breaks. All but one span of the Manayunk bridge has been swept away. East of that point May's bridge is gone, and but one span remains of the Gronville bridge. From Altoona westward on the main line the track is open to within a short distance of South Fork, where the bridge was washed away on Friday. Between South Fork and Johnstown 1000 men are busy putting the railroad in shape.

At Johnstown and west of there several large gangs of workmen are employed. It is not believed that passengers can be conveyed from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh over the main line inside of a week or ten days. As to transportation of freight and mails nothing definite can be learned.

No direct intelligence of any sort has been received from Lock Haven since 9 o'clock on Friday night. A dispatch then received stated that the lumber boom had broken and the town was flooded. The wildest kind of rumors are received in regard to the situation at that place, but they lack confirmation. It is believed, however, that the loss of property at that place will be enormous.

ONLY ONE WIRE.

But the Associated Press Correspondent Secures It.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The difficulties to which representatives of the press have been subject in their efforts to wire the horrors of the situation here are almost beyond description. For the past 48 hours eight or nine correspondents have struggled for precedence over the single wire in operation, and when the Associated Press finally obtained possession of this only means of communication from this desolate valley, there was chagrin and disappointment on every side. But the troubles of this bureau instead of now being ended were really only begun. The electric fluid was subject to interruptions that were frequent, as they were carrying other business, and at times it seemed as though the only wire that connected chaos with the universe was to be severed. The surroundings even now are not such as to encourage careful literary production. The improvised office of the Associated Press is in an abandoned tile factory, that first became a morgue before the disciples of the faber shared quarters with the dead. As the wind blows from the ruins on the river, the emanations of burning and decaying flesh steal through the open windows and add to the horrors of the experience. A narrow board that rests upon the head of upturned barrels is the table at which are seated the representatives of the Associated Press, and tallow candles in bottle necks have usurped gas and electric light.

Harry W. Orr of Pittsburgh, the operator who in this crisis has distinguished himself by a display of fortitude seldom witnessed, is seated on a low stool as he ticks away at the rate of 40 words per minute to 11 operators that receive simultaneously on the great Associated Press circuit that radiates from Johnstown bridge to New York, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus, Cincinnati, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

After 72 hours of almost continuous service, broken at no time by more than a couple of hours' hasty slumber, W. C. Connelly, Jr., the Associated Press agent, who chartered a train to beat all competitors to the scene of horrors, was forced this afternoon to succumb to nature and seek repose in his Pittsburgh home. During his brief absence his place is filled by a less able though no less zealous representative, who noted carefully every turn of the panorama in this shifting scene of disaster.

London Opinion.

LONDON, June 3.—The Daily News, discussing the danger of artificial lakes, says: "America, where everything is on a scale of vastness which we cannot experience, seems destined to suffer calamities of a civilization that exhibits its triumphs on a most colossal scale. The sympathy of the whole civilized world will be with the people of Pennsylvania in the saddest, most striking and most overwhelming misfortune that ever befel a people of the English-speaking race."

Other morning dailies refer to the disaster in a similar strain.

THE CRONIN MYSTERY.

An Inquest Begun—A Clew at Racine, Wis.

CHICAGO, June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The Coroner's inquest in the Cronin case began this morning. A number of witnesses were examined, but scarcely a single fresh fact was brought out.

RACINE (Wis.), June 3.—It transpires that the skiff missed from Chicago about the time of the disappearance of Dr. Cronin was picked up by a tug and towed into Racine three days after the occurrence. It contained two paddles and a man's kid glove.

TORONTO, June 3.—In answer to dispatches containing the announcement of the proposal to extradite him, W. J. Starkey states that he is quite willing to go to Chicago and tell all he knows of the case, which he says is nothing.

AN ANGRY COLLECTOR.

He Frightened Señora Gonzales Too Much.

Testimony was taken yesterday in Justice Lockwood's court in the case of the People vs. Antonio Fernandez. The defendant is accused of making threats of violence against Rosa Gonzales, the complaining witness. It seems that Mr. Gonzales, the husband of the complaining witness, owed Fernandez some money which the latter despaired of securing. All the parties to the suit live on Boyle Heights. Mrs. Gonzales says that Fernandez came to her house and wanted his money; that he became very angry and violent, and used such threatening language that she became frightened and had him arrested. The case comes up again this morning, when the Court will render a decision in the matter.

New Suits.

A transcript of appeal from Justice Charles McKelvey of Santa Ana was filed yesterday in the case of Robert McFadden vs. the Pacific Lime and Cement Company. Judgment was rendered by the Justice against the company for $257, for goods bought of the plaintiff, from which the defendent has taken an appeal to the Superior Court.

A complaint was filed yesterday by Elhanon Gay vs. Anna E. Gay, his wife. The plaintiff alleges that certain property bought by them, and placed in the name of his wife, is claimed by her as separate property. He denies that he had any intention of so arranging the matter, and asks for a judgment, declaring the land community property.

Orville B. Skinner and wife began a suit for foreclosure, yesterday, against Charles Ehrenfeld. The plaintiffs ask for judgment for $10,000, the principal of a promissory note given by the defendant.

Fehneman Still on Deck.

Last evening it was reported on the streets that B. Fehneman had absconded, leaving a number of people in the lurch, and several parties called at the police station to see what could be done in the premises. Later, however, Mr. Fehneman put in an appearance, and was somewhat surprised to hear the stories that were afloat concerning him. He said that he had not left town, nor did he expect to go, but would keep his labor bureau going just the same. He said that his picnic had been a failure from a financial standpoint, and that he had come out somewhere about $150 short. He claims that he divided the money up, and paid everything as far as his means would permit, and would try and make arrangements to liquidate his outstanding indebtedness within the next few days. He says but 667 tickets in all were sold for the picnic.

The Ruling of the Los Angeles Tribunal Reversed.

The Proposed Line of Steamers Between San Diego and China Likely to Become a Reality, Etc.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SANTA ANA, June 3.—[Special.] People here are confident that the carrying county division tomorrow, as near as can be learned this evening. A special fight will be in Anaheim. This afternoon several loads went over to Anaheim, where a big demonstration will be held tonight. The two towns seem to be a word points, and all of the good work Santa Ana will be in Anaheim tomorrow.

A large majority of the merchants and business men here are said to be in favor of division and all say that a large vote will be polled.

SAN DIEGO'S HOPE.

The China Line Apparently Steamers Apparently Uncertainty.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] John [illegible] just returned from a trip to San Diego, was interviewed in regard to the story that the Peninsula and Oriental Steamship Company proposed soon to establish a line of steamers between San Diego and the Orient.

"Of course," said he, "the fact that our firm at San Diego is at for the Santa Fé road will probably give us the agency for the steamship line."

"Then you have to believe that the line will be established?" was asked.

"Yes. Although we not received direct information to that effect, yet circumstances surrounding the Santa Fé people caused me to believe the story to be true. At any rate, San Diego has received the full benefit of the rumor should it prove untrue. The recent boom, which was for San Diego and its vicinity, has come to stay, and now the town has settled down to steady business and a real boom has set in. New buildings are going up in directions, and new enterprises are daily incorporating. Everything is advanced and flourishing."

In an interview William H. Dimond, agent of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, stated that he was not at present ready to talk about the proposed new route.

"We have not as yet arrived at positive information," said he, "that the new line is to be established, and I do not believe it will. Since the Exclusion Act went into force the business of our company has fallen off considerably. The present trade does not warrant another line."

The Post this evening says: "The three steamers of the company which have been named to run on the San Diego line are the Oceanic, Victoria and Britannia, all of which are high-speed vessels and of 3000 tons burden."

THE STEPHENS CASE.

The Supreme Court Reverses the Decision of the Lower Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] In the case of the People against Stephens the Supreme Court today reversed the judgment and order of the lower court. The action was one for libel in which Stephens charged Horace Bell of Los Angeles with criminal acts and [illegible] Bell sued for acquittal for same offense, having been tried for other statements in the same article. The lower court held the separate charges in the publication to be separate offenses and that the defense could be tried and punished upon each one. The Supreme Court rules that the whole publication forms but one offense, and while the prosecution could have made as many counts in the indictment as they pleased, they could not chop one article up into a number of offenses.

BASE-BALL.

The Pittsburghs Get Home and Defeat Indianapolis.

PITTSBURGH, June 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The home team arrived today after a disastrous trip, and defeated Indianapolis in a well-contested game. The score:

Base hits: Pittsburgh, 4; Indianapolis, 5. Errors: Pittsburgh, 3; Indianapolis, 2. Pitchers, Galvin and Boyle.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The New York-Washington game was called at the end of the fourth inning on account of the heavy rain storm which came up. Washington had secured two runs and New York three.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Close but comparatively uninteresting was the ten-inning game here today in which Chicago won. The score:

Base hits: Chicago, 6; Cleveland, 4. Errors: Chicago, 2; Cleveland, 1. Batteries: Hutchinson and Somers, O'Brien and Zimmer.

BOSTON, June 3.—Radbourne strained his leg today in the game won by the Bostons over the Quakers. The score:

Boston	0	0	0	3	0	2	2	0	3	—10
Philadelphias	0	1	0	2	0	0	0	2	1	—6

Base hits: Boston, 11; Philadelphia, 9. Errors, Boston, 2; Philadelphia, 3. Batteries: Radbourne, Madden, Ganzel, Buffinton, Clements.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—The Louisvilles did not arrive today, and the game with the Athletics goes over.

BALTIMORE, June 3.—Baltimore, 7; Cincinnati, 2. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning on account of rain.

BROOKLYN, June 3.—Kansas City, 9; Brooklyn, 6.

COLUMBUS, June 3.—Columbus, 7; St. Louis, 11.

Has Not Withdrawn.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—Inquiry at the headquarters of the Trancontinental Association by an agent of the Associated Press, tonight, elicited the following official information: The Southern Pacific Railroad Company has not given official notice of their withdrawl from the association, but they have demands which will be conceded.

PASADENA NEWS.

A CLOSE RACE FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE.

'Round About Town—Here and There—A Narrow Escape—Funeral Notices—Local Budget—Personal Mention.

PASADENA, June 3.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The fight for school trustee is now at fever height and, like the temperature, will not go down until toward nightfall of tomorrow. It will be the closest fight in many years, the rival factions each indorsing men of strong caliber, sound business judgment and good training in educational matters. All day long groups of men could be seen at many corners and in private rooms discussing the probable outcome and the strength of the opposing candidates. Back of this fight is said to be a promise, or rather an expected pledge, to support certain educators for the position of School Superintendent. George F. Kernaghan and Prof. C. F. Holder are both in the field for trustee, notwithstanding reports to the contrary, and the gentlemen will make a "nip and tuck" race for the honor. It is safe to say that the election of a school trustee of the San Pascual school district for the year 1889 will go down in the events of history as the closest and most exciting race in the local record. It is estimated that over 800 votes will be polled, against about thirty for last year.

ROUND ABOUT TOWN.

The Board of Trade holds an important meeting tomorrow afternoon. Let every member be present.

The flood and flame sufferers of Johnstown will not be allowed to go unremembered, as far as this city is concerned. The Universalists and Episcopal churches and the Board of Trade have already heeded the cry for aid.

The "Union Club," formerly known as the Tourists' Resort, that solitary spot, only where the thirst can be quenched with the effervescent beer, has been closed. The proprietor paid a fine of $50 this morning, and immediately closed his place of business. Wonder what the City Fathers of South Pasadena will do when the big "house" opens?

HEALTH REPORT.

Health Officer McAllister reports nine deaths during the month of May, just eight less than the previous month. The number of deaths during the month of June thus far reported has been three. Four deaths of last month resulted from consumption.

LOCAL MENTION.

B. S. Eaton is back from a trip to Mt. Wilson.

Frank Cheney of the village of Tippecanoe on Mt. Wilson visited the denizens of the lower regions today.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lake Vineyard Land and Water Company took place this afternoon. The question of expenses was discussed, and a number of bills audited and ordered paid.

The Pasadena delegates to the Universalist State Convention at Santa Paula leave the city tomorrow afternoon.

The police have started in to arrest all wheelmen found riding on the sidewalks. This is done to break the present lull in police news. Somebody must earn a salary.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

While Mrs. Wyatt of Oak Knoll was driving up Broadway street this morning, waiting for her husband, who was transacting some business in the office of the Pasadena Manufacturing Company, her horse took fright from some unexplained cause. Near California street she was thrown out, by the buggy overturning, and was rendered unconscious, in coming in contact with the ground. Prompt assistance aided the lady to her home, where a scalp wound was dressed. At this writing Mrs. Wyatt has regained consciousness, and will be able to be around in the course of a fortnight. As it was, the accident was a narrow escape from instant death.

HERE AND THERE.

J. A. Woodworth has been commissioned as notary public. The city now has a small army of these officials.

At the next meeting of the North Pasadena Literary Society, the author and statesman, Benjamin Franklin, will be discussed. The polls for the election of a school trustee open in the Wilson building at 8 o'clock, continuing until sundown.

On the occasion of the 54th birthday of Mrs. O. C. Turner, which occurred on Saturday last, that lady gave a coffee to a number of her friends. Among those present were the Mrs. J. W. Robinson, R. A. Edwards, Laura Robinson, E. Hough, S. J. White, C. W. Buchanan, Hough. Mrs. Turner lives on Marengo avenue in North Pasadena.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

An infant daughter of L. E. Warrell died yesterday at the family residence on Glorietta street. Funeral services Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Miss Jessie M. G. Quay were held this afternoon at the chapel of Lippincott & Son. An eulogy to the memory of the deceased was given by Rev. Donald. A special choir furnished the music for the solemn occasion. The body was embalmed and will be shipped to Port Hope, Ont., tomorrow.

The funeral of the infant daughter of Edward Dearth, who passed away on Saturday, took place from the family residence on South Vernon avenue at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. There was a large attendance at the house, where the funeral sermon was preached by Rev. P. F. Bresee. The floral display was profuse.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Donald of Colton is in town today.

Miss Fidelia Anderson has returned from her trip to Florence.

Messrs. Haskins, Hovey and Greely have gone on an excursion of four days up the San Gabriel Cañon.

Harold Cluster, the typo, is now working at his trade at Lancaster in the Antelope Valley.

C. W. Barnes and wife left this evening for Salt Lake City, where they will in the future reside. Mr. Barnes was a Union compositor.

Col. J. R. Bowler of the Hotel Albemarle of San Diego was kept busy shaking hands with old acquaintances today.

Mildred Fish, Grant Brown, E. H. Miller and C. E. Harris leave tomorrow morning on a piscatorial trip to the wilds of the San Gabriel Cañon.

Charles Marsh, the tonsorial artist, stepped in town this morning from a trip to Old Woman's Springs in San Bernardino county.

C. E. Pike leaves for New York city tomorrow, where his future home will be made.

The School-trustee Contest.

It seems that the announcement in the Pasadena correspondence of THE TIMES of last Saturday, that Prof. C. F. Holder had withdrawn from the race for school trustee, is a mistake. He refused to go into the caucus, but remains in the field. He represents a large element of highly-respectable people, who objected to his going into the caucus, because it would have resulted in so much dirty work that it would have produced a bad effect upon the schools and the interests of education. Prof. Holder therefore stands as the people's candidate, backed by the best citizens of the town. It seems that a factor in the contest is whether Mr. Pierce, the outgoing Superintendent of Schools, shall be permitted to dictate who shall be the next trustee and his own successor. He is a supporter of Mr. Kernaghan, the caucus nominee, and it is reported has a man selected for his own place. The popular idea is, that as he is going to Chico, he has no right to dictate, or to say, by implication, that he is afraid to have his work in the schools at Pasadena investigated. It is stated by those in a position to know that Mr. Kernaghan was the caucus nominee simply because it was the policy of Mr. Holder's friends not to put him into that branch of the fight. He declined half a dozen times to stand for the office, but was literally pushed into the race. Mr. Kernaghan has the reputation of being a good man, and the main thing the people say against him is that he is "Pierce's candidate." If Prof. Holder is elected it will mean that politics shall have nothing to do with the Pasadena public schools.

Prof. Holder is a citizen of standing, an experienced educator, and an author of distinction.

"Oh-ho-o!"—What's the Matter in Pasadena?

[Star, June 3d.]

There are yet some men who, failing to profit by the experience of others, appear to think that it is not dishonorable to violate political pledges. In business matters they may pass as ordinarily honest and honorable men, but when they enter the political arena they appear to think that it is an evidence of superior statesmanship to play the dirty tricks of ward bummers and alley strikers. Such men make a fatal mistake. It is only a question of time when they will find themselves downed by their own disreputable methods, and there the community very cheerfully allows them to remain while they wiggle out their miserable existence. The individual who imagines that he is going to be constituted a political boss in Pasadena is sowing to the whirlwind. It may be understood, now as later, that there is no room here in which to indulge in the science of political trickery.

ALEX MORE'S DEATH.

His Body Found Lying in Santa Ynez Creek.

[Santa Barbara Press.]

Last night at 9 o'clock George Culbertson rode into town from the mountains on a horse that would have dropped dead if urged to travel another mile. He had ridden 37 miles since 5 o'clock, and brought the news that Alex S. More had fallen into the Santa Ynez Creek while fishing yesterday afternoon, and had been found dead by his companions shortly after, lying face downward in the water, and with a fishing rod in his hand.

The party, consisting of Alex Moore, James Hope and George Culbertson, started for the head of the Santa Ynez River last Wednesday, with the intention of spending a month in the mountains, hunting and fishing. They went over by easy stages and had not reached their camp at the Huncal until 2 o'clock yesterday. On the way up they picked up an Indian called "Indian Louie," who has a cattle ranch about fifteen miles this side of the camp.

After dinner, at about half-past four the Indian and Alex started down the creek to fish, the Indian going on ahead. George Culbertson took his gun and started over the hills in search of game. He saw the Indian, who was some distance ahead of Alex, take a short cut over a hill in order to avoid a bend in the river, but did not see Alex follow. At about 5 o'clock Culbertson having returned to camp, the Indian came running in and said:

"That man who was with you is dead."

They followed down the creek and there, within 50 yards of a rock upon which Culbertson had been waiting for game, was the body of Alex More, lying with his head in the water and his fishing-rod still firmly grasped in his hand. The face of the body was a dark purple and the hands cold and bloodless. Death had been but recent and had evidently come quietly, there not being the slightest sign of a struggle.

Hope and Culbertson were horrified. They lifted up the body, and, after some excited parleying, decided to carry it down the river on a burro, to the nearest point to which a wagon could approach, while one of them came over the mountains to notify Alex's friends. Culbertson jumped on his horse and, urging him every step of the way, reached here in less than four hours.

Upon Culbertson's arrival here he first had his horse attended to, and then notified T. R. More, Mrs. Law and the Coroner. The brother and sister of the deceased were grief-stricken and the blow was a severe one to them. The suddenness of the death of their brother and the lonely spot in which it occurred seemed to quite overcome them.

A strong spring wagon and a lusty team was quickly got ready, and after Culbertson had had something to eat, he with Sid Law and E. Emigh started back after the body. They left town about 11 o'clock and went by the way of the new grade and the San Marcos Pass, intending to go up the bed of the Santa Ynez River to the quicksilver mines and meet Hope and the Indian there. The wagon will be unable to get nearer than this place to the body. The party may be expected to arrive in town late this afternoon.

The cause of More's death can only be surmised. He has not been well lately, and for the first 48 hours after leaving this city could not eat any food. He finally had a better appetite, but could not retain anything on his stomach. In the mornings he was so weak and nervous that he could not lift a glass of water to his lips unassisted. His system was evidently run down by long-continued dissipation, and the hot sun and hard mountain traveling did the rest.

EAST SIDE.

The Union Committee for Christian Work—A Birthday.

Members of Legion No. 1, Select Knights, A.O.U.W., visited Legion No. 6 at Campbell's Hall last evening.

The East Side was in total darkness until 10:30 last night. The question asked by many was, "Where are the lights that we pay for?"

There seems to be a certain reluctance on the part of those who should be looking after the city's interests to take hold of the Downey-avenue bridge question in a manner that would insure to the people that which it was represented they should have.

This reluctance is being remarked by many, and now that some of the actions of the last Council in these matters are being looked up and coolly and quietly considered, the votes of ex-Councilman Earl are found to have been generally in the best interests of the people, although sometimes in the "hopeless minority."

At the union committee meeting last evening for the purpose of organizing a more united effort in Christian work for the East Side young people the following persons represented their respective societies: Asbury M. E. Church, C. E. McKay and Miss Nellie Dixon; Baptist Church, Harry Riddle and Miss Hall; Presbyterian Church, Mr. Stevenson and Miss Mary Quail; Congregational Church, Lester S. Moor and Miss Belle Soverign. Lester Moor was chosen temporary president and Miss Quail temporary secretary, and Mr. Stevenson permanent president and Miss Hall permanent secretary.

The committee decided to hold union meetings on the second Friday evening of each month, and Harry Riddle, Nellie Barraclough, Miss Gay and Mr. Stevenson were chosen as leaders for the coming quarter, with the next meeting in the Presbyterian Church Friday evening, June 11th. Mr. Tubbs of the Methodist Church was chosen to lead the music.

A genuine surprise party was given to Ira Hinds at the residence of A. Saunders, on South Griffin avenue, last evening, in honor of his 21st birthday anniversary. The following persons were present and participated in the pleasures of the evening: Misses Lilian Whelply, Belle Soverign, Emma Soverign, Belle Heppe, Lillie Barraclough, Nellie Barraclough, S. Nellie Barraclough, Nettie Barraclough, Josie Barraclough, Girtie Ritter, Nettie Kennedy, Isabel Henderson, Belle Russ, Hattie White, Mamie White and Myrtle White, and Messrs. Homer Kennedy, F. H. Soverign, Lester Moor, Ed Tinker, Charles McKeag, William Whelply, William Henderson, Arthur Coombs, George Sibley, William Medler, E. C. Dockstader, Jack Burke and W. Weir. Ira feels himself every inch a man now.

Architects, Take Notice.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS of the county of San Bernardino, State of California, will, at the meeting of said board, beginning on the first Monday of July, 1889, adopt plans and specifications for a two-story fire-proof building (the cost of which is not to exceed $40,000), to be used principally for Recorder's office and Clerk's office.

Architects are invited to submit plans and specifications to said board at said meeting.

The architect whose plans and specifications are adopted will be employed to superintend the construction, and he will be paid for such services and for his plans and specifications a commission of three per cent. of the total cost of the building, and it will be paid to him in the following manner: One per cent. of the estimated cost of the building at the time the plans are adopted; one per cent. when the building is inclosed, and the balance when the building is completed or accepted. Said commission is to be in full for all the services of the architect and his plans and specifications. To the architect submitting plans and specifications considered second and third in merit, if there be such, will be paid $200 and $100 respectively.

The Board of Supervisors will be the sole judges of the merits of all plans and specifications and reserves the right to reject any and all of them.

If the total cost of the building, when the same is erected, exceeds the cost estimated by the architect, his commission will be computed on the cost estimated by him.

For plan of ground, and all other particulars and instructions, apply to the County Clerk at San Bernardino, California.

GEO. COOLEY,
W. H. GLASS,
G. W. GARCELON,
Committee of Board of Supervisors.

*SUNDAY EXCURSIONS. Parties going on this day can return same evening after spending several hours on the Island.

Parties wishing to make a trip along the Island can do so by taking Tuesday evening's train from Los Angeles. The steamer arrives at Avalon the same evening, and leaves Wednesday morning for Catalina Harbor, leaving excursion parties at Johnson's Landing, on the west end of the island, and at the beautiful Catalina Harbor, remaining at the latter place six hours. Returning, stops at Johnson's Landing, reaching Avalon same evening and Los Angeles Thursday morning. Those buying a regular round trip ticket, and wishing to make this trip, can have the benefit of special rates for staterooms and dining accommodations by applying to the agent.

The company reserves the right to change steamers and their dates of sailing.

Sterling exchange, dull but steady at 4.87¼ for 60-day bills, 4.89 for demand.

American cotton-seed oil, 59¼.

Government bonds, dull but steady.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The stock market today was more animated than on Saturday, and there was decided strength in many of the leading shares, and most of the important stocks are higher this evening. The market opened weak, but buying and concessions in prices assumed larger proportions and the bottom was quickly reached, and Northern Pacific stocks suddenly sprang into activity with a decidedly strong tone and sharply advanced. Rumors accompanying the improvement were to the effect that the expected settlement of points at issue between that company and the Union Pacific had been satisfactorily adjusted and it became known that President Oakes had left for the West. The only important changes were advances of ⅝ per cent. in Northern Pacific preferred, 1¼ in Delaware and Hudson, 1⅝ in Jersey Central and 4 per cent. in Oregon Navigation.

Premium Sewing Machine.

HAS THIS AN EQUAL?

A High-grade Sewing Machine

AT MANUFACTURERS' PRICES.

THE "MIRROR" PREMIUM

High-Arm

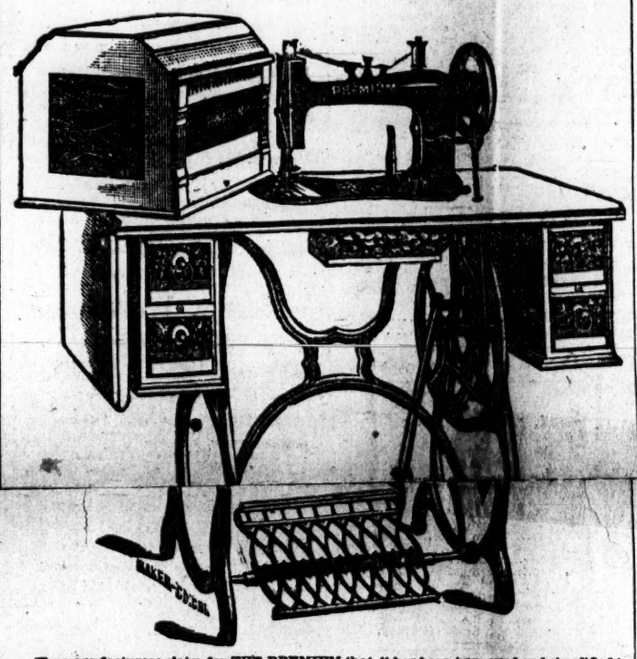
SEWING MACHINE!

Half Cabinet, Five Drawer, $60 Machine,

—FOR—

$25.50 =:= $25.50

With Copy of the WEEKLY MIRROR One Year.



The manufacturers claim for THE PREMIUM that it has been improved and simplified in all its details by the best mechanical talent in America, who, with unlimited resources at their command, have combined only that which is practicable and dispensed with all complicated surroundings generally found in other machines.

It is the simplest machine, having the fewest parts, all strong, and with case-hardened bearings. Being free from complication it is easily cared for, never gets out of order, and is always ready for use. The most inexperienced can readily manage it. It has all the modern appliances and conveniences that go to make up the sum of excellences, successfully combining simplicity, durability, speed, strength and beauty, producing a machine unequaled for ease of management and capacity for wide range of work.

THE PREMIUM HIGH-ARM

is light-running and noiseless, uses A STRAIGHT, SELF-SETTING NEEDLE, and makes the double-thread "Lock Stitch." It is the perfection of mechanism for hemming, felling, binding, cording, braiding, seaming, tucking, ruffling, gathering, embroidering, hemstitching, quilting, etc.

It is adapted to every variety of sewing, from the lightest muslins to the heaviest cloths, and will do a greater range of work than any other machine.

The woodwork is unique and attractive in style and substantially made from well seasoned and carefully selected material. Its elegant finish and rich trimmings are in good taste, and harmonize with the excellent workmanship of the machine.

Far more handsome and ornamental than the ordinary style of woodwork, it is at the same time of equal durability, utility and good finish.

WARRANTEE—The usual five-year warrantee is given to us by the manufacturers, and we in turn guarantee every machine to give full and entire satisfaction.

NO RISK WHATEVER.

So great is our confidence and knowledge of the superiority of the PREMIUM HIGH ARM that we further agree with every purchaser to REFUND THE MONEY in case full satisfaction is not given by the machine in every particular after a month's trial.

Tailors, Dressmakers, Seamstresses, manufacturers of clothing, shirts, skirts, corsets, umbrellas, etc., will find one of its best recommendations is its special adaptation to their wants and range of work.

The Automatic Tension,

When once properly regulated, will rarely need to be changed, and as a general rule, the whole range of family sewing can be done without any change of tension whatever. This result is obtained by nicely adjusted springs, that will accommodate themselves to the size of thread used.

OUR CLAIMS FOR SUPERIORITY

ARE AS FOLLOWS:

A Device Whereby the bobbin can be wound without running the machine saves the unnecessary wear of the machine and the trouble of unthreading and removing work and attachments while the bobbin is being filled.

A Scale for Regulating The length of stitch, which enables the operator to readily ascertain the length of stitch without testing previous to commencing work.

A Spring-Tension Cylinder Shuttle, Holding a bobbin that carries a large amount of thread. There is but one hole to thread through, making it the most easily threaded shuttle in use. The tension may be changed without removing the shuttle from the machine.

The Double Feed Extends on both sides of the needle and permits a greater variety of work than any other. It has great power and never fails to perform its duty—will feed the lightest and heaviest goods with equal precision, and will cross seams and hard places without changing length of stitch or missing stitches.

Light Running. On account of the simple mechanical devices employed in its construction, runs lighter and with greater speed than any other machine, and is almost noiseless. It is the simplest, EASIEST OPERATED, best made and most elegantly ornamented machine in the world, combining every requisite to produce perfect work.

Inviting a practical test of this machine, we distinctly claim for it a great superiority in plan, material, workmanship, and in its performance. It is unquestionably the most popular machine now in the market.

—THE OUTFIT.—

Each machine is supplied with the following outfit: One Hemmer and Feller (one piece), Twelve Needles, Six Bobbins, One Wrench, One Quilting Gauge, One Screwdriver, Oil Can filled with oil, Cloth Gauge and Thumbscrew, and a Book of Instructions. The following extra attachments are also furnished free: Ruffler, Tucker, Binder, Set of Wide Hemmers and Shirring Plate.

The book of instructions is profusely illustrated, and answers the purpose of a competent teacher.

Machines are shipped as fast freight, unless otherwise ordered; we paying freightage to Los Angeles, and purchaser paying from Los Angeles to his home.

Sewing machine agents sell this machine for $55 and $60; $25.50 buys one from us, with a year's subscription to the WEEKLY MIRROR in addition. Subscribe with your local agent, or address

JUNE THE 4TH.

NOTABLE EVENTS THAT HAVE OCCURRED ON THIS DATE.

Battle of Magenta—Battle of Freiberg—Birth of George III.—Davoust, One of Napoleon's Great Marshals—Amy Robsart.

It is 30 years today since the battle of Magenta. The place from which this historic struggle was named is a small town in Lombardy, near which the French and Sardinians, under the Emperor Napoleon and King Victor Emanuel, gained a great victory over the Austrians. The Emperor and King were in the thickest of the fight, and it is said that 55,000 French and Sardinians and 75,000 Austrians were engaged. The former lost 4000 killed and wounded and the latter 10,000, besides 7000 prisoners. The timely arrival of MacMahon during a doubtful struggle between the French and Austrians greatly contributed to the victory. The contest at the bridge of Buffalora was very severe. The Austrians fought well, but were badly commanded. The Emperor and King entered Milan on the 8th of June, and MacMahon and Rignault d'Angely were created Marshals of France as a reward for their services. A monument was erected on the battle-field in memory of those who had fallen in the conflict, and was dedicated June 4, 1872.

THE BATTLE OF FREIBERG.

Frederick II., King of Prussia, defeated the Austrians at the great battle of Freiberg June 4, 1745. As this followed the great victory of Fontenoy, gained by the French over the English on the preceding 11th of May, Frederick wrote to his ally, Louis XV. of France, "I have honored the bill of exchange your Majesty drew on me at Fontenoy." A series of successful fights had opened the road to Saxony, and on the 18th of December Frederick occupied Dresden. This and other victories secured Silesia to Prussia, and the Seven Years' War failed to wrest the conquered province from the iron grasp of Frederick II.

BIRTH OF GEORGE III.

The Gentlemen's Magazine of May 24, 1738, contains this paragraph: "This morning between 6 and 7 the Princess of Wales was happily delivered of a prince at Norfolk House, St. James Square, the Archbishop of Canterbury being present. This prince was he who afterward ruled over England as George III. The 4th of June, which was assigned as the Prince's birthday after the change of style in 1752, was formerly an occasion of extraordinary festivities in Great Britain. A royal birthday at the present time, notwithstanding the respect maintained by many of her subjects for the present occupant of the throne, is nothing to what it was

"When George the Third was King."

The reverence felt for the old monarch was with many of his subjects a kind of religion. Even his serious faults as a ruler—faults which entailed such disastrous consequences upon the kingdom—failed to impair this personal regard.

DAVOUST.

One of Napoleon's ablest marshals, Louis Nicolas Davoust, who defeated the Prussians at Auerstadt on the same day that Napoleon routed them at Jena, was born in 1770. He was a fellow-student of Bonaparte at Bricerne, and his promotions in the army were rapid. He was successively general of brigade and division, and in 1804 was made a marshal of the Empire. Davoust commanded the right wing of the French army at Austerlitz, where he rendered brilliant and effective service. But Davoust's name is held in horror on account of his oppression of the citizens of Hamburg while occupying that city in 1813, when his rapacity is said to have been unbounded. It is remarkable, however, that Davoust was faithful beyond example to Napoleon through all the proceedings of the two subsequent years; and after Waterloo, when the Bourbon decree proscribed several of his brother marshals, he wrote to the Minister St. Cyr, demanding that his name should be substituted for theirs, as they had only acted under his orders of the late War-Minister—a piece of generosity reminding one of chivalrous times. It is another curious and unexpected trait of Davoust that he was a bibliophilist and possessed a fine vellum library.

AMY ROBSART,

a daughter of Sir John Robsart, was married to Lord Robert Dudley, who was afterwards famous in history as the Earl of Leicester, on the 4th of June, 1550. The ceremony was performed in the presence of King Edward VI. The pair lived together 10 years but had no children. Dudley had the good fortune to rise in the favor of Queen Elizabeth as the years went on, even to such an extent that he might, if unmarried, have aspired to the royal hand. It seems astonishing, in view of Elizabeth's high reputation as a sovereign, that the Minister who enjoyed her personal favor during a long course of years, and whom she loved if she ever loved any one, was a man proved to have been guilty of every vice, a selfish adventurer, a treacherous hypocrite and a murderer. He was still only Lord Robert Dudley, when in September, 1560, he got rid of the wife of his youth. Sir Robert Varney, one of Dudley's dependents, accompanied by his servant, entered Lady Dudley's chamber one night, and after strangling her, threw the body down stairs to give color to the story that the victim had died by accident. Dudley honored her with a magnificent funeral, which was held at Oxford at a cost of £2000. This ostentation did not conceal his guilt, and the Queen did not marry Leicester on account of the infamy attaching to his name through the murder of his wife.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

John A. Logan Post will give a calico party at Turnverein Hall next Thursday evening.

The District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church will open in the Fort Street Church this evening.

An information charging A. W. McConnell with burglary was filed yesterday in Department No. 1 of the Superior Court.

The annual meeting of the Flower Festival Society will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p.m., at No. 25 East Fourth street.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union Telegraph office for Mrs. J. W. Cannell, Albert Turner, Hattie E. Keeler.

Carl Fossek, a native of Austria, and Domingo Bastenchury, a native of France, were admitted to citizenship yesterday by Judge Shaw.

Benoir Renault pleaded not guilty to the charge of rape in Judge Cheney's court yesterday, and his case was placed on the trial calendar.

W. K. Bowker, collector for the TIMES business office, is dangerously sick with pneumonia at his residence, corner of Pine and Vernon streets.

In the matter of the assignment of W. W. Stevenson, citing the assignee to render an account, the Court yesterday ordered the proceedings under the citation to be dismissed.

In the insolvency proceedings of Taylor O. Bryant, before Judge Shaw, Lucien D. C. Gray was yesterday elected assignee by the creditors, and the Court fixed the bond at $1000.

Mrs. C. C. Allen, wife of Col. Allen of THE TIMES, who fell from a step-ladder and fractured one of her arms last Saturday, is getting along reasonably well, though the broken member is very painful.

The asphalt and brick sidewalk that has done service so many years in front of the Downey block has been torn up to give place to a more modern artificial stone walk brought down to grade. It will be a great improvement.

There were but three entries on the blotter at the County Jail yesterday. Charles Jackson, crime against nature, city, and Albert Mess, battery, and Phillip Schriber, disturbing the peace, from Wilmington. At 7 o'clock last night there were 95 prisoners in the tanks.

Chief Burns has sent a letter to all hack-owners calling their attention to ordinances Nos. 201 and 295, in regard to numbers, posting up the rates on the inside of public carriages, wearing of badges by drivers, etc., and informing them that the provisions of the law will be rigidly enforced. A reasonable length of time will be given the owners to prepare such changes as may be necessary, after which arrests will be made for every violation.

Councilman A. K. Hamilton wishes it to be understood that he is not the Hamilton who made the charges of "boodling" on the part of certain members of the old Council, at the meeting on the East Side several nights ago. The gentleman has been greatly annoyed over the matter, by parties coming to him for information, and says that in case anything of the sort should come to his knowledge the information will be given to the proper parties so that the guilty ones may be prosecuted.

A couple of Italians were arrested at the corner of Ninth and Main streets yesterday afternoon by Officer Bevins for exhibiting a traveling menagerie, consisting of several bears, monkeys, etc. The men had a conditional permit signed by the Mayor, but as they failed to have it indorsed by the Chief of Police, as set forth in the document, it was of no avail. The men pleaded ignorance, when they were released, and told to go and sin no more. They gave the names of Jem and Mateo Stanley.

The health authorities are determined to enforce the ordinance in regard to the moving of swill through the streets, and yesterday 12 persons were arrested for violation of the same, but were released on the statement that they were ignorant of the charge. This excuse will not, however, be taken in future, but the full penalty will be enforced. The hours fixed by the ordinance during which swill may be taken through the streets in covered wagons are between 11 o'clock at night and 6 o'clock the next morning.

C. Long was called for trial in Department No. 6 of the Superior Court yesterday, on an information charging him with dealing faro December 10, 1888. The defendant was represented by Hon. S. M. White, who moved his discharge on the ground of a defect in the information, holding that it did not state a public offense. The Court granted the motion, stating further that it was of the opinion that a new information can be framed upon which the defendant can be legally convicted. The Court directed the District Attorney to file a new and amended complaint within ten days.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to the following persons: Jacob Bresch, aged 33, of Vernon, and Mary Bosmiller, aged 22, of Rosedale; O. W. Lorbeer, aged 27, and Ella Himrod, aged 27, of Pomona; John H. Betsworth, aged 22, and Ida B. Herwick, aged 17, city; Charles W. Herwick, aged 25, and Florence B. Myers, aged 19, city; Louis Didier, aged 25, and Alphonsina Amar, aged 29, of Puente; John D. Sullivan, aged 29, and Kate Ferris, aged 19, city; David Y. Foulkes, aged 24, and Barbara Beisel, aged 21, city; John H. Glinas, aged 58, and Loise E. Crosswhite, aged 44, of Fountain Valley.

PEOPLE'S STORE.

Daily Bulletin of the Leading Dry Goods House.

LOS ANGELES, June 4, 1889.

Did you see our place yesterday? What a sight it presented! We had dozens of extra people engaged for our great sale, and with that help could hardly manage the crowd. Each day the public learn better that the People's Store is the people's protector. They have confidence in what we say—appreciate our bargains. Call when we say, "Come;" leave our store laden with parcels and satisfaction; extol our praise to all they meet; watch our announcements, and all is all agree to the verdict: "Right goods at the proper prices"—can be had at all times at the People's Store.

WINDOW DISPLAYS.

Figured Lawn, 3½c a Yard.

Just the thing for warm weather; a white-ground figured lawn, almost as fine as the sheerest mull, 3½c a yard; pretty designs in black, red and blue; worth 8½c.

Bedspreads, 29c Each.

What is the world coming to? A bedspread can be bought at the People's Store for 29c, and it is large enough for any double bed. Our grandmothers would turn over in their graves if they heard of it.

De Beige Dress Goods, 10c a Yard.

A double-fold gray de beige dress goods at 10c a yard. Good width; less than $1 will buy a full pattern. It is a splendid color for the dusty section, and will give the service of a much costlier fabric.

CLOTHING DEPARTMENT.

Men's Sack Suits, light weight, $4.65; sold by the grabbers at $10.

Men's Frock Suits, gray or brown mixed, $5.95; sold by the grabbers at $12.

Men's Pants, $1.49; a good working article; sold by the grabbers at $2.25.

Gents' Seersucker Coats and Vests, 98c; sold by the grabbers at $1.50.

Look at these prices, "friends," and rejoice. Look at these prices, "grabbers," and weep. Pour out your wailing through full pages—it sounds like a death knell. Come down from the "high-price system" and "take-what-you-can-get plan" and do business on the same principle as it is done at the People's Store. Don't try to double your money on each transaction—you can't do it—we won't let you. We are going to see that the public get goods at the right prices—it's our sacred mission. We have devoted ourselves to it for years, and our task is only half done. If you don't know how come around and watch us a little while—we'll teach you and show you a good large-sized appreciative crowd taking advantage of our bargains.

Oxygen, Compound Oxygen, Nitrous Oxide, and other inhalations, used in all DISEASES OF THE LUNGS.

We have introduced the compound oxygen treatment with our systems of practice in the cure of Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Dyspepsia, Insomnia, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Rheumatism and Nervous Prostration, while only the most improved methods are employed in all female complaints.

As is well known, Oxygen is the life-giving principle in the air we breathe, and Ozone in the air imparts that happy and buoyant feeling after thunder storms. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and cause doors and windows to be opened, tear off collars, loosen the waist, and call for a fan to displace the stifling and bring fresher air or more oxygen. Traveling is done mainly to resorts where the air contains more oxygen, and mountains are ascended to breathe the Ozone, which is light and ascends from the earth.

Oxygen and Ozone are gases, and must be stored up and used by inhaling them. Our apparatus for storing and having these gases compounded with other suitable agents is perfect, and though they are not a cure-all, yet they are undoubtedly the greatest invention made in the last twenty years in any department of medicine, and the results are truly wonderful.

Oxygen acts by purifying the blood. Thereby increases the circulation, promotes absorption, improves digestion and assimilation, increases the capability of the lungs, and acts as a gentle stimulant to the nervous system.

The London, Eng., Lancet, very truthfully says: "The compound oxygen treatment is the greatest discovery of the nineteenth century." Clergymen, Statesmen, Lawyers, Doctors and all classes indiscriminately, wherever it is introduced, both use and recommend it.

The testimonials given below are very fair samples as to the time required for effecting cures in these troublesome cases:

Dr. Williams—DEAR SIR: I am happy to say that the cure you effected in me for a severe case of throat disease has proved to be permanent. For over a year I was troubled with post-nasal catarrh and granulated throat disease, and had done so much for it that I had but little hopes of ever being cured, when I first went to you, but you gave me such positive assurance that you could cure me that I began your treatment, and in four months from that time you discharged me as cured, and I am happy to say the cure was a permanent thing in every particular up to the present time, which is now over a year. Yours very truly, MRS. LUCY R. TRASK, 809 South Olive street, Los Angeles, Cal.

Dr. M. Hilton Williams—DEAR SIR: I have been contemplating for some time past making a statement of my case and the benefit I have derived from your treatment, remembering how glad I would have been could I have seen something of the kind from a person in the city, to whom I could have referred, when I first came to Los Angeles from my home in New York State.

I had been suffering for several years with what various physicians in the East pronounced "chronic ulcerated laryngitis." I spent considerable time at the Clifton Sanitarium, and employed the best medical skill I could find, all without any permanent benefit, and as a last resort our family physician recommended Los Angeles. For a time I improved, and then I began to go backward and all my former symptoms returned.

Through a medical friend I was induced to try your treatment. I became very much discouraged at times, but persevered, as I felt almost desperate and knew of nothing else to turn to. My throat trouble being aggravated by a serious stomach difficulty, made it very obstinate to deal with, but at last, after persevering for a time with your remedies, I consider I am permanently cured. If this will be of any value to you you are at perfect liberty to use it; also to refer any one to my mother, my husband or myself. Very truly yours,

MRS. J. D. WILEY,

Los Angeles, Cal.
